THE WORLD'S FAIR PRIZE MEDAL

AWARDED TO

Chilson's Patent Air-Warming and Ventilating Furnaces.

The following are among the important improvements attained by these Furnaces:

1st. An abundant supply of fresh, healthful, warm air, free from red hot iron heat, so injurious to health.

2d. Their great power in Warming Buildings, is a conclusive proof that all the heat from the fuel is used in warming the rooms, which accounts for their economy in fuel.

to 75 per cent. of the fuel commonly used is saved by this arrangement. Fire may be kept from Fall until Spring, by replenishing but once in from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. We have six sizes of this Stove, adapted to all classes of buildings, and the practical operation of some five hundred has fully developed a philosophical principle, that must take the place of the common stoves at an early day.

PORTABLE FURNACE.

We have four sizes of a PORTABLE FURNACE, just completed on this principle, which greatly surpasses all former inventions for Portable Furnaces.

CHIMNEY PIECES AND PIER SLABS.

MANUFACTURED OF STONE BY THE PENRHYN MARBLE CO.

These are new and beautiful articles, in imitation of the richest Marble, such as Lisbon, Italian, Pyrene, Egyptian, Galway, Spanish, Sienna, Black, and others of the most rare and desirable kinds. In point of style and finish they are unequalled; are very highly polished; retain their beauty much longer than common marble, and are not injured by coal gas, smoke or acids. They have been extensively introduced into Public and Private Buildings, giving perfect satisfaction to those who have tried them.—The best references and testimonials can be given, showing their adaptedness for general use. While much superior in appearance, they are sold cheaper than anything of the kind in the market. In fact, the confidence with which they have thus far been used, gives the fairest evidence that the Penrhyn Marriages, will, in a great measure, supersede the use of all others.

BY GEORGE ADAMS.

BOSTON:
OFFICE, No. 91 WASHINGTON STREET.
1853.

1861, March. Bill of Adams, Simpson & Co. of Boston.

PREFACE.

In the following pages we give, as nearly as we may, in type and figures, a faithful representation of Massachusetts as she now stands, and of her progress and improvements during the past year. Her government, her laws, her religious, charitable, educational and reformatory institutions, her commerce, manufactures, and business, are here recorded. The usefulness of a work of this kind is sufficiently demonstrated by the increasing demand which has induced its annual publication for nearly a century past.

The labor and difficulty of compiling the work, can hardly be appreciated except by those engaged in similar undertakings. For aid in various departments, especial acknowledgments are due to Nathaniel B. Shurtleff, M. D., Hon. Philo Leach, James P. Magee, Esq., Nahum Capen, Esq., Charles Hale, Esq., Charles Mayo, Esq., B. H. Currier, Esq., Timothy Reed, Esq., Rev. Luther Bailey, Hon. Asa Potter, Providence, Secretary of State, R. I., Chauncy Smith, Esq., of the P. O. Department, Washington, D. C.; and the ready coöperation of our correspondents, and of citizens generally throughout the Commonwealth, to whom we may have applied for information, has greatly lightened the task.

The general appearance and character of the work we think will be found an improvement upon former numbers. Probably no other State in the Union has furnished an annual publication giving, in so compact and convenient a form, so complete an exposition of its Government, Institutions, and Business. We are fully aware that there still remains room for improvements, and they will be duly introduced.

GOVERNORS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

In the first volume of the State Record, published by Nahum Capen, Esq., in 1847, a brief biographical sketch of Governor Carver was given. This was followed, in 1848, by short biographies of Endicott, Winthrop, and others, in chronological order, down to Dudley; in 1849, from Dudley to Belcher; in 1850, from Belcher to Hancock, and in 1851, from Hancock to Gerry. Last year we continued this feature of the work from Gerry to Morton, and we now bring it down to the present time, with sketches of Morton, Briggs, and Boutwell. For the fac similes of their autographs, we are indebted to N. B. Shurtleff, M. D.

Marcus Morton

MARCUS MORTON.

Descended from George Morton,* one of the fathers of the Plymouth Colony, and the brother-in-law of William Bradford, afterwards its historian and Governor, MARCUS MORTON was born in Free-town, Bristol County, Massachusetts, December 19, 1784. His father, Nathaniel Morton, was a farmer of limited means, yet frugal and independent; well educated, though self-taught, and distinguished for sterling sense, sound judgment, unwavering consistency, and spotless purity of moral character,—a combination of qualities which secured for him, through a life extending to eighty years, an unusual share of public confidence, and placed him for nearly forty years, by annual election, in the Legislature or Executive Council of his native State. His mother, sprung from early settlers of Bridgewater, possessed a vigorous and well-balanced mind, and in her character united a strong understanding with unaffected and fervid piety.

Apart from the teachings and discipline of parents such as these, the common school—at that period an institution widely different from what it now is—afforded the future jurist and statesman his only opportunities of education, until the age of fourteen, when he was placed for half the year under the care and tuition of the Rev. Mr. Chaddock, of Rochester, while the other half was devoted to the labors of the farm. Such, however, was his assiduity, that in the autumn of 1801, he was enabled to enter the University at Providence, with the advanced standing of a year. Graduating in 1804, he commenced the study of law, with the late Judge Paddleford, of Taunton, in whose office he remained until 1805, when he became a member of the Law School, at Litchfield, Connecticut. While here, he was associated with many young men, afterwards distinguished in their several spheres of action, and among others, with the late John C. Calhoun, of South Carolina, with whom he was on terms of the most intimate friendship. Returning to Taunton, and completing there his course of studies, Mr. Morton adopted it as his place of residence, and was admitted to the Bar in September, 1707.

The opening of his professional career was eminently successful. The discrimination, prudence, fidelity and perseverance for which he has since been distinguished, were then conspicuous traits of his character. Frequently he was engaged in every cause tried during the term, and despite the political opposition which he had to encounter,—for at his first entrance on the duties of active life, he had thrown himself zealously into the support of Jefferson and the Democratic policy,—public opinion speedily awarded him a place at the head of the Bristol Bar,—a Bar, always able, but never abler, perhaps, than at that time. He had been but a short period in practice, when Gov. Sullivan tendered him a commission as Attorney of the Commonwealth for the County of Bristol. The office had been held for some time previous, and was then executed, under the authority of the Court, by his preceptor, Judge Paddleford, and true to the dictates of friendship, he declined the appointment. In May, 1811, Mr. Morton was elected Clerk of the Senate of Massachusetts, to which station he was re-elected in 1812. The reason which prevented his acceptance of the County Attorneyship, under Gov. Sullivan, being no longer operative, he was appointed to that office by Gov. Gerry, the duties of which he discharged with signal ability until 1817, when his resignation was rendered necessary by his election to a seat in Congress. It is worthy of observation, as indicative of the character of the man, that during the six years in which he held the office of public prosecutor, not a single indictment or prosecution failed from any informality or legal defect. In 1818, Mr. Morton was again elected to Congress, where he remained until the close of the first term of Mr. Monroe's administration, when he resumed the practice of his profession. In 1823, he was chosen a member of the Executive Council of Massachusetts, and the next year, after a sharply-contested election, Lieutenant Governor. In February, 1825, the Chief Magistracy became vacant by the death of Gov. Eustis, and the duties of the office devolved upon Mr. Morton. Discouraging his friends from presenting him as a candidate for Governor, which a majority of the Democratic members of the Legislature were desirous of doing, he was re-elected Lieutenant Governor by nearly a unanimous vote, receiving the formal support of both parties. In July of the same year, 1825, he was commissioned as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court. The appointment was received with universal approbation, an approbation more than justified by his subsequent career.

The Law Reporter, in an article occasioned by his retirement, alluding to his political connections, declared that he had been "as free from all undue influences, from that cause, as was consistent with the lot of humanity." As a Jurist, it is not too much to say, that the Judiciary of Massachusetts has rarely been adorned by his superior. "Judge Morton," says the same authority just quoted, "has filled the station on the bench with eminent ability and fidelity, and with entire acceptance to the profession and the whole community. In the instantaneous perception of the real point of a case, his mildness and firmness in presiding, his impartiality to parties and counsel, his perspicuity in the discussion of incidental questions, and his methodical accuracy and clearness in the summing up of evidence, he was not surpassed by any of his brethren; while in the legal opinions pronounced by him there is a simplicity in the statement and elucidation of the principle in question, and a transparency of style, that will make them monuments of his fame."

At the election in 1825, Mr. Morton, though declining to be a candidate, had received some six thousand votes for Governor. After his appointment to the bench, a portion of the people still conferred their suffrages upon him, for that office, though several years elapsed before any concerted measures were taken for his support. His strength, however, constantly increased, until 1839, when after a warmly-contested canvass, he received a majority of the popular votes, and in January, 1840, he retired from the bench, and entered upon the duties of the chief magistracy. His address to the two Houses of the Legislature, on the occasion of his inauguration, was regarded by his political friends as a document of extraordinary ability.

The great controversy in relation to the separation of Bank and State, begun under the administration of Jackson, had not yet terminated, and in his address, Governor Morton took strong ground in support of the democratic policy. He discussed the questions of currency and protection with ability and clearness.

In the affairs of the State, Gov. Morton recommended many reforms, some of which were promptly adopted by the Legislature, though controlled by his opponents in political action. He advised the discontinuance, as far as practicable, of special legislation; he discouraged the policy of pledging the public credit for works of internal improvement; he urged the practice of the most rigid economy in public expenditure; he enforced the claims of the common schools to the liberal and fostering care of the State; he advocated the amelioration of the criminal code, and contended for the extension of suffrage by the reduction of the poll-tax, and for the secrecy of the ballot. The elections of 1840 resulted disastrously for the democratic party, throughout the country, and Gov. Morton was superseded by Gov. Davis. In 1843, however, he was recalled to the chief magistracy, being on this occasion chosen by the Legislature, the people having failed to make an election.

In 1844, the Whig party was restored to power, and Gov. Morton, declining to be again a candidate, retired to private life, having been voted for at twenty-one successive elections either for the first or second office in the Government, viz., nineteen times for Governor and twice for Lieutenant-Governor,—his votes, meantime, having grown from six thousand to nearly sixty thousand.

On the accession of Mr. Polk to the Presidency in 1845, Gov. Morton was tendered the appointment of Collector of the Customs for the Port of Boston. The place had been twice offered him before, once by Gen. Jackson, and again by Mr. Van Buren, and on both occasions it had been respectfully, but firmly declined. It was now declined again; but the importunities of friends, united with the urgent solicitation of President Polk himself, induced him to reconsider his resolution, and to accept the office. The position, always laborious and responsible, was during this period rendered doubly so, by the entire change, undertaken and effected by the administration, in the fiscal and revenue policy of the country. The legal attainments, large experience and the practical business talents of Gov. Morton were found of essential advantage to the Government, and his services were on more than one occasion, acknowledged in befitting terms, by the distinguished head of the Treasury. Since his retirement from the Collectorship, which occurred soon after the close of Mr. Polk's administration, Gov. Morton has taken little or no active part in public affairs. He resides in Taunton, where he divides his time between his family, his library, and the pursuits of agriculture, to which he is devotedly attached.

GEORGE N. BRIGGS

Was born in the town of Adams, Massachusetts, in the year 1796. His father was an industrious blacksmith of unblemished character. At an early period of life the subject of this notice manifested a strong attachment for books, and exhibited unusual powers of mind. His opportunities for acquiring an education were limited—the demands of a numerous family upon the industry of his father forbidding the idea of his receiving any pecuniary aid from that quarter to enable him to qualify himself for a profession. But to the energetic and resolute all obstacles must yield. His own talents and energy supplied the means while pursuing the elementary studies of his profession. He read law in the office of L. Washburn, Esq., of Lanesboro', and was admitted to the bar in his native county. Though Mr. Briggs entered the profession under many disadvantages and became a member of a bar scarcely inferior in legal and other talent to any in the Commonwealth, yet such was his success in his profession, and his reputation as a man of talents and character, that he was in 1830 selected by the whigs of that district to represent them in the Congress of the United States. Though he had had no legislative experience before he entered Congress, he soon acquired a thorough knowledge of parliamentary law, and exhibited that tact as a legislator, and that enlarged and high-minded statesmanship, which have rendered him an influential member of the popular branch of the General Government. After remaining in Congress six or eight years, holding the doctrine of rotation in office, he declined a re-election. But so well satisfied were the good people of that district with his talents, and the fidelity with which he had discharged his every duty, that they refused to dispense with his services, and put him again in nomination. He was elected by six successive Congresses, and after serving his district, or more properly the country, faithfully for twelve years, he retired of his own accord, with a character pure and spotless, and a reputation which few are permitted to enjoy.

In 1844 he was elected Governor of Massachusetts, in which office he was continued until 1850. As Chief Magistrate, he was devoted to the best interests of the Commonwealth, and was ever watchful to suggest and carry forward all measures which were calculated to promote the honor and prosperity of the people.

Mr. Briggs has always manifested a warm interest and untiring zeal in the moral and religious reforms of his time—a zeal and interest, which have abated none of their activity since his withdrawal from public.

GEORGE S. BOUTWELL

Was born at Brookline, Mass., Jan. 28, 1818. His father is a farmer, who removed from Brookline to Lunenburg when the subject of this sketch was only two years of age. He attended the common school at Lunenburg until 1830, when at the age of twelve years, he entered a country store and remained in that employment some four years. Subsequently he taught school in the town of Shirley, and in the spring of 1835, he took up his residence in Groton, entering into business in company with a gentleman by the name of Woods. Mr. Woods dying, Mr. Boutwell succeeded him in the entire business which he still carries on. As a public man, Mr. Boutwell began to attract attention in 1839, when he was in his twenty-second year. He wrote a series of able articles on the Banking system, which won for him the praise of the leading Democrats of the State. Having filled various town offices in Groton, he was elected a member of the Massachusetts Legislature in 1841. He was re-elected in 1842. The session of 1843 was an exciting one, and Mr. Boutwell took an active part in the discussion, evincing much ability and knowledge. In 1843, '46, '48, '49 and '50 he was returned to the Legislature, and was as conspicuous as before in the debates which occurred.

Mr. Boutwell was nominated for Governor in 1849 and 1850 by the Democratic party, but failed of an election by the people, both years. He was, however, chosen Governor by the Senate Jan. 10th, 1851, and served until Jan. 13, 1852, when he was again chosen Governor by the Senate.

As a speaker, Gov. Boutwell is calm, dignified and impressive. He is eminently argumentative, and a ready and skilful debater, as the records of our Legislature will show.

When first chosen Governor, he was but thirty-three years of age, the youngest Governor which Massachusetts has ever had. Although called thus early in life to this distinguished station, he has exhibited the wisdom and judgment of a more mature age. Elected by a coalition of parties, he maintained a manly and independent course.

During his administration, questions of exciting interest and vital character have arisen requiring prompt and decisive action on his part, which have been met with boldness and discrimination. In the fall of 1852, he declined the nomination for Governor, and retires with honor and credit to himself and his native State, carrying with him the strong and active interest he has ever felt in the institutions of the State and Nation.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

The style of the legislative body in the government of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts prescribed by the Constitution, is "THE GENERAL COURT." This is the name which was used in the earliest times, when "the General Court" was a purely Democratic assembly, every freeman taking part in the deliberation and elections of the Colony. As their number increased, however, a body thus constituted must necessarily become unwieldy, and the transaction of its business became inconvenient. The absence of the freemen from their homes during the sessions of the General Court, leaving their habitations and families exposed to the attacks of the Indians, was also considered unsafe, as well as prejudicial to their private affairs. Accordingly, in 1634, it was voted, that it should be lawful for every plantation, or town-settlement, to choose two or three Delegates before the meetings of the General Court, who should have the full power and voice of all the freemen, to make laws, grant lands, and deal in the affairs of the Commonwealth generally; the election of magistrates alone being reserved to the popular individual votes of the freemen. The House of Representatives thus constituted, was the second in any of the colonies; the first Virginia House of Burgesses met in 1620, fourteen years before. The other executive and legislative departments of government in Massachusetts at this time were vested in the Governor and assistants. There was no provision in the Charter for any such House of Representatives, but it nevertheless continued from its establishment as long as the Charter lasted, and its main features have been preserved in the scheme of government to the present time.

The Constitution of Massachusetts, formed by a Convention in 1779, and ratified and established by the people the next year, provides for two branches in the legislative body, or General Court, a Senate and House of Representatives. Each branch has a negative on the other, and the laws and resolves passed by each, are liable to the Executive veto. The composition of both of these bodies has been somewhat modified from time to time. The Senate has always consisted of forty members, chosen from Districts, every County forming a District, (with the exception of Nantucket and Dukes Counties, which together form one,) and the number of Senators eligible from any one District being limited to six. By the original provisions of the Constitution, the Senators were apportioned among the Districts in proportion to the amount of public taxes paid by each; but by the last amendment to the Constitution, adopted in 1840, the basis was altered to the number of inhabitants. Originally the members of the Council must be selected from the Senators by the joint ballot of the two Houses, rendering their seats in the Senate vacant, unless those selected declined serving, in which case the selection could be made from the people at large. By the same amendment just now alluded to, the election is made in the first instance from the people at large.

The composition of the House of Representatives has been more varied. By the original provisions of the Constitution, every corporate town containing 150 ratable polls had the right to elect one Representative; those containing 375, might elect two each; those containing 600, three each, and so on; 225 ratable polls being the mean increasing number for every additional Representative. As this gave the right of electing a Representative to towns of the smallest size, the whole number of Representatives, in case the towns availed themselves of their full rights, was accordingly inconveniently large, amounting sometimes, even before the provision was annulled, to between five and six hundred, and including those from the District of Maine, before its separation from Massachusetts, to 750. It would have swollen to more than a thousand under the last valuation (1850,) had no change been made. An attempt was, however, made to provide some limitation of the number of members, by throwing the burden of compensating them upon the towns choosing them, the travelling expenses only being borne by the State government, so that towns often "voted not to send" rather than to be taxed for the pay of their Representatives. This check answered well enough generally, but at times of much political excitement the evil of an inordinately large House was felt. A plan of amendment was adopted by the Convention of 1820, but failed to receive the assent of the people. The Legislatures of 1835 and 1836 proposed another plan, which was ratified by the people, November 11, 1836, and promulgated March 24, 1837. By this plan, every town and city was entitled to one Representative for every 300 ratable polls, and one more for every 450 polls in addition to the first 300. The small towns having less than 350 polls were allowed a Representative a portion of the time, proportionate to their size. This plan was soon abandoned, only two Houses having been chosen under it. The Legislatures of 1839 and 1840 proposed a new scheme, which was ratified by the people, April 6, 1840, promulgated April 17, 1840, and is at present in force. By this scheme the basis of representation is changed from polls to population; and the numbers which determine the apportionment are established every ten years in accordance with the census. At the present time, under the State census, taken for the purpose in 1850, every city or town having 1560 inhabitants is entitled to one Representative, and 3120 inhabitants is the mean increasing ratio entitling it to an additional Representative. In other words, the number of Representatives to which each city or town is entitled, is found by dividing its population by 3120, and a remainder greater than half of that number is regarded as entitling it to a Representative. Towns having less than 1560 inhabitants are entitled to a Representative as many years in ten years as 208 is contained in their population, together with one Representative for the valuation year. Under this scheme, should every town send, the whole number of Representatives would be 438, as it would have been in 1851, the valuation year, had not some of the towns failed to make elections. The average number in the House in other years than valuation year is 299. Of the seven smallest towns which are entitled to but one Representative in the ten years in addition to the one in valuation year, six, being all except Montgomery, exhausted their right by sending to the Legislature of 1851. A proposition to change again the apportionment of Representatives which failed in the House at the session of 1851, was described in the last volume of the "Register," at page 39.

The session of the General Court for the year 1852 was begun at the State House, in Boston, on Wednesday, the seventh day of January—being the first Wednesday—at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, and was prorogued shortly after noon, on Saturday, May 22. At this session, 322 Acts and 108 Resolves were passed—being 27 less Acts and 15 more Resolves than were passed at the next preceding session. We give below, in the same general manner as last year, the titles, with abstracts of all these Acts and Resolves, an outline of the other legislative proceedings, appearing to possess interest and importance, and a summary of the statistics presented to the Legislature in various reports.

The titles of the Acts and Resolves below are given in full, accompanied by as full an abstract of their provisions as is likely to be desired. The letter [G] is placed before such as are designated as General Acts and Resolves by the Secretary of the Commonwealth. The numbers placed before the titles show the order of their approval by the Governor, and indicate, in each case, the chapter which the Act or Resolve makes in the official code for the year 1852. The date enclosed in brackets, after the title, is the time of the approval by the Governor; in the single instance of the law passed notwithstanding the withholding of his assent, the fact is stated.

The letter [P], placed at the end of the abstract of an Act, shows that it is to take effect from and after its passage, which is considered as contemporaneous with its approval by the Governor, indicated by the date in brackets, as explained above. All other Acts and Resolves, in accordance with the general provisions of the Revised Statutes, take effect on the thirtieth day after their passage, unless some other time is expressly mentioned—in which case it is here given.

It will be observed that the number of Acts of incorporation for manufacturing purposes has diminished, in consequence of the passage of the General Act (No. 133) of the last Legislature—an abstract of the provisions of which was given in the last volume of the "Register," at page 19. The organization of several companies, however, with larger capitals than that Act allowed, will be observed below. The provisions that none of the shares of corporations shall be issued at less than their par value, and that new shares shall have the same par as old; that the legal rights of no person or corporation shall be interfered with by the building or extension of wharves; and some other general features, common to all the recent legislation of the Commonwealth, are not particularized in each case. The par value of shares in corporations is $100, unless otherwise stated.

Of some of the Resolves, which relate purely to transfers of real estate held in trust, and similar matters, no attempt is made to give any abstract, as it would not possess the slightest general interest or value.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS.

In the last number of the Register, at page 33, a table was given, showing the dates of the beginning and end of the sessions of the legislatures, and the length of each since 1831, when they were established annually, beginning in January. The longest was that of 1851, which was 144 days, and the shortest that of 1842, which was 68 days, including an extra session in September. The Session of 1852, beginning January 7, and ending May 22, was 137 days in length, and was thus the longest there has yet been, with the exception of the one preceding.

Neither House sat at the session of 1852 on Sundays, nor on Saturday, February 28, and Monday, March 1, on account of the various town elections on the latter day, nor on Thursday, April 8, Fast Day. But little business was done in either House on April 27, the day of the reception in Boston of Kossuth. The Senate adjourned April 5, for want of a quorum.

The daily sessions of the Senate began at 11 o'clock, A. M., at the commencement of the session, and so continued until April 20, when they began to be regularly opened at 10. The House also began its sessions at 11 o'clock, until March 16, when 10 was fixed as the hour. During the last part of the session, for a few days the sessions were opened at 9.

We notice below most of the proceedings of this session of interest, not included in the laws and resolves passed, which we have already disposed of above.

ORGANIZATION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The Senate was called to order, January 7, by MYRON LAWRENCE, the senior Senator present, and was organized by the choice of HENRY WILSON as President, he having 16 votes out of 27, against 10 for Charles T. Russell; and FRANCIS H. UNDERWOOD as Clerk, he having 16 votes out of 28, against 11 for Charles Calhoun.

The House of Representatives was called to order January 7, by JAMES SMALL, of Truro, whose first legislative year was 1822, and was organized by the choice of NATHANIEL P. BANKS, JR., of Waltham, as Speaker, he having 201 votes out of 393, against 191 for Ensign H. Kellogg; and LEWIS JOSSELYN as Clerk, he having 199 votes out of 390, against 191 for Samuel Bowles.

January 8, Rev. WARREN BURTON was chosen Chaplain of the Senate, receiving 27 votes, all that were cast.

The same day in the House there was an unsuccessful ballot for chaplain, and a motion that the gentleman who had received the highest vote should be declared elected, being lost, the matter lay over till the next day, January 9, when Rev. R. W. CLARK, having received 103 votes out of 372, was by vote declared elected, he having a plurality of votes.

Jan. 30. In the Senate, BENJAMIN STEVENS was chosen Sergeant-at-Arms, on the part of that branch, receiving 19 votes out of 37, against 18 for David S. Jones. The same day he was also chosen on the part of the House, receiving in that branch 199 votes out of 370, against 168 for David S. Jones.

The Election Sermon was preached before the Governor and members of the Legislature, Jan. 8, in the Old South Church, by Rev. ROLLIN H. NEALE. The text was Romans xiv, 4.

ORGANIZATION OF THE EXECUTIVE.

By a report made to the Senate, January 12, it appeared that the whole number of votes thrown by the people for Governor, at the election of Nov. 10, 1851, was 137,187, making 68,594 necessary for a choice, and no person had that number.

Robert C. Winthrop, of Boston, had 64,279; Geo. S. Boutwell, of Groton, 43,732; John G. Palfrey, of Cambridge, 28,560; Francis Coggswell, of Bedford, 118; all others, 290; and accordingly the four persons whose names are mentioned, being those who had the highest numbers, were the constitutional candidates from which two must be chosen by the House, to be sent to the Senate for their final selection of one to be Governor. The House proceeded, January 13, to make their choice. For the first candidate the whole number of votes was 394, of which Mr. Boutwell had 200, against 194 for Mr. Winthrop. For the second candidate, the whole number of votes was 286, of which Mr. Winthrop had 240, against 30 for Mr. Palfrey, and 16 for Mr. Coggswell, there being twelve blanks not counted. The same day the Senate selected GEORGE S. BOUTWELL to be Governor, by 23 votes against 11 for Mr. Winthrop.

The four constitutional candidates for Lieutenant Governor, were George Grinnell, Henry W. Cushman, Amasa Walker, and Caleb Stetson. At the election in the House the same day, at the ballot for the first candidate, Mr. Cushman had 199 votes out of 390, against 191 for Mr. Grinnell, and at that for the second candidate, Mr. Grinnell had 197 votes out of 206 for Mr. Walker, and 9 for Mr. Stetson, there being in this case also twelve blanks not counted. In the Senate, HENRY W. CUSHMAN was selected to be Lieutenant Governor, having 25 votes against 7 for Mr. Grinnell.

January 14, eight of the nine councillors were elected in convention of the two Houses, having from 224 to 229 votes, out of 427. For the remaining councillor, the one for the Suffolk district, no choice was that day effected on two ballots, and the convention dissolved by a vote of 201 to 175. On a subsequent day, January 20, in another convention, Aaron Hobart was chosen, receiving 201 votes out of 391. Messrs. Gardner, Gibson, Hubbard, Weston, Gourgass, and Bird, were qualified in a convention, January 15; Messrs. Gale and Browne, January 16; and Mr. Hobart, January 22.

January 15, Messrs. Boutwell and Cushman were sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties, and to support the Constitutions of Massachusetts and of the United States, and His Excellency delivered his annual message.

January 16, AMASA WALKER was chosen Secretary of the Commonwealth, receiving 217 votes out of 415, against 195 for William B. Calhoun— and CHARLES B. HALL was chosen Treasurer and Receiver General, receiving 212 votes out of 401, against 187 for Ebenezer Bradbury. February 6, DAVID WILDER, JR., was chosen Auditor of Accounts, receiving 206 votes out of 411, against 205 for William Barrett. These three elections were all made in convention, and the persons chosen are the same who held the offices the preceding year.

WESTERN RAILROAD DIRECTORS.

In convention, February 12, Whiting Griswold, of Greenfield, and William B. Spooner, of Boston, were chosen directors of the Western Railroad Corporation on behalf of the State, receiving respectively 228 and 224 votes, out of 409.

PREACHER OF THE NEXT ELECTION SERMON.

The choice of this officer, by usage, rests with the Senate and House alternate years, the Senate making the election for the odd years. Accordingly February 4, the Senate proceeded to make an election for the year 1853. On the first ballot there was no choice. On the second, Rev. Samuel Walcott, of Belchertown, was chosen, having 17 votes out of 32, against 14 for Rev. A. L. Stone, of Boston.

DEATHS OF MEMBERS DURING THE SESSION.

Jan. 9. In the House the death of the Hon. William Ward, who had been elected as representative from the town of Worthington, was announced. He died before the assembling of the Legislature, Dec. 20, 1851. He was born May 18, 1781. Suitable resolutions were passed, and the House adjourned. On the 12th his death was announced in the Senate, and that body adjourned. The same day in the House it was ordered that a precept be issued to the town of Worthington for a new election to fill the vacancy; but no new representative was chosen.

April 12. The death of Judson Stoddard, representative from Braintree, at one o'clock in the morning of that day, was announced in both Houses, and after the passage of suitable resolutions they adjourned. This was the only death which occurred during the session, although there was an unusual amount of sickness among the members, as is indicated by the resolves.

TEMPORARY CLERK.

In the House, Jan. 19, the Clerk being absent at the time of the assembling of the House, (there was a severe storm which detained many of the members from appearing), George F. Hoar, of Worcester, was elected Clerk pro tem. and acted until Mr Josselyn came.

PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.

In accordance with the resolve above (Res. No. 18), the Senate and House met in Convention April 1st, for the purpose of electing two delegates to Philadelphia. The whole number of votes was only 287. Nathaniel P. Banks, Jr., of Waltham, had 239, and Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy, had 214, and they were accordingly elected.

COMPENSATION OF MEMBERS.

In the House, Jan. 16, it was ordered that the Committee on the pay-roll consider the expediency of limiting the present session to one hundred days, and of fixing the compensation of members at $2.50 per diem. Jan. 23, the Committee reported against the proposition.

In the House, Jan. 21, an order to restrict the length of the session to one hundred and twenty days, and to make the compensation of the Speaker and Clerk equal, was rejected. Jan. 26, the Committee on the pay-roll were ordered to report what compensation should be allowed to the officers and members, and accordingly reported a resolve. Jan. 29, a proposition was made in the House to fix the compensation of members at $2.50 per diem, and of the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House at $6.50 per diem, which was rejected, 120 to 112. An amendment to give the President and Speaker $3.50 was also lost 141 to 108. The next day the matter came up under a motion to reconsider, and a proposition to fix the payment at $2.50 per diem for sixty days, $2.00 per diem for the next forty days, and no further compensation to be paid for the subsequent days of the session, was rejected, and the resolve reported by the Committee was ordered to a third reading, and subsequently passed in both branches, as given above. (Res. No. 5.)

In the House, May 6, an order was submitted to allow those members who reside at so great a distance from the Capitol that they cannot return home between the sessions of Saturday and Monday, $4 mileage for each ten miles' travel, instead of $2. May 7, this order was indefinitely postponed, and a resolve was introduced on leave fixing the mileage for all members at $4 instead of $2, which was referred to the Committee on the Pay-Roll. May 11, the Committee, having already made up their accounts, reported adversely on the resolve. May 15, a motion to indefinitely postpone the resolve failing, 104 to 146, it was refused a third reading, and thus rejected, 193 to 134.

LIMITATION OF SPEECHES.

In the House, March 15, an order was submitted limiting the length of speeches to thirty minutes, which was laid over under the rule. The next day it came up and was adopted. March 23, a motion to suspend this rule was lost, 162 to 84. March 26, the rule was rescinded so far as concerned debate in Committee of the Whole.

In the House, May 13, an order was passed limiting the length of speeches to ten minutes.

BANKS AND BANKING.

Sundry petitions were presented during the early part of the session, for charters for new banks, and for the increase of capital of existing ones. In the House, February 27, the Committee on Banks and Banking reported leave to withdraw on their petitions, on the ground that the general banking law (No. 267) of last year afforded sufficient banking facilities for the accommodation of the people of the State. March 12, a motion to recommit the petition of the Taunton Bank for increase of capital was lost, 122 to 164. March 17, a motion to reconsider this vote was lost, 169 to 180, and the report was accepted. The next day a motion to reconsider this last vote accepting the report was lost.

In the Senate, April 26, the Committee on Banks and Banking reported that it is inexpedient to legislate on the subject on agency for the country banks in Boston. April 28, this report was accepted in the Senate, and May 4 in the House.

MUTILATION OF BANK BILLS.

In the House, February 14, a bill to prevent the wilful injury of bank bills was indefinitely postponed. This action was next day reconsidered, and the bill was recommitted. February 27, it was reported in a new draft, with a provision that the possession or uttering of mutilated bills by any person should not be deemed evidence of his having mutilated them; and in this form it was passed to be engrossed March 6. It passed the Senate without change. (See Act 64.)

SCHOOL DISTRICTS.

In the House, January 16, an order was passed directing the Committee on Education to consider the expediency of abolishing the School Districts. Next day the order was passed in the Senate. In the Senate, March 16, the Committee reported that hesitating to recommend an entire repeal of the district system on the ground of the long continued habits and customs of the people, they reported a bill "concerning the appointment of school teachers," repealing the proviso of the law of 1838, authorizing the Prudential Committees to select and contract with the teachers whenever the town so determines. April 9, in the Senate this bill was indefinitely postponed, and the next day a motion to reconsider was lost.

POTATO ROT.

In the House, February 9, a communication was received from the Secretary of the Commonwealth enclosing ninety-three documents on the subject of the potato rot, received in consequence of the offer under a resolve of the Legislature of 1851, still in force, of a reward of ten thousand dollars for a remedy, which was referred to the Committee on Agriculture. May 13, the Committee reported that these documents be printed in a condensed form. March 16, this report was accepted in the House, and March 18 in the Senate.

In the House, March 17, a report that it is inexpedient to legislate on the subject of increasing the salaries of the Judges was accepted.

In the Senate, March 22, the Committee on Probate and Chancery were directed to consider the expediency of increasing the salary of the Judge of Probate for Hampden County. April 24, they reported a bill which passed that branch. In the House, May 5, the same Committee of that body reported that it ought to pass. May 12, it was rejected 82 to 80, and May 13, a motion to reconsider this vote was lost.

SALARIES OF CLERKS OF COURTS.

In the House, April 29, a special Committee was directed to consider the expediency of repealing the provisions of law allowing Clerks of Courts to retain half the excess of fees over their salaries. April 29, the Committee reported a bill to establish salaries of the Clerks of Courts, providing that the Clerks of the several courts in the Commonwealth, except Police Courts, shall keep accounts of all moneys received, and make an annual exhibit to the County Commissioners, and a return to the Secretary of State, designating for what the money has been received. And further, that each Clerk of the Judicial Courts shall receive an annual salary, which after amendment, were fixed as follows:—The two Clerks of Suffolk County $3000; Middlesex $2000, assistant $1000; Essex $2500; Worcester $2500, assistant $1200; Hampden $1500; Hampshire $1200; Franklin $1000; Berkshire $1500; Norfolk $1600; Bristol $1600; Plymouth $1000; Barnstable $1000; Nantucket $400; Dukes $250; Municipal Court $3000. In the Senate, February 17, the Committee on Claims reported leave to withdraw on a petition of Jemima Moriarty for indemnity from the Commonwealth for the destruction of the Ursuline Convent, August 11, 1834—and the next day this report was accepted in the Senate, and February 27, in the House. In the House, April 23, the Committee on Claims reported resolves relating to the destruction of the Ursuline Convent in Charlestown, authorizing the appointment of three Commissioners to ascertain and report the amount of loss. April 30, these resolves were indefinitely postponed, 125 to 51. A motion to reconsider this vote was lost, May 3, 75 to 137.

AGRICULTURAL AND HORTICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

In the House, March 19, an order was adopted instructing the Committee on Agriculture to consider the expediency of some change in the laws relative to the State Agricultural bounties, and several petitions in favor of State aid to Horticultural and town Agricultural Societies were also referred to the Committee. April 9, the Committee reported a bill to allow $200 to any such incorporated society, without regard to population or limits, on funds to the amount of $1000, and a proportionate amount on any funds to $8000, the whole amount paid in any one year not to exceed $10,000. April 19, the bill after debate was refused a third reading, 93 to 91, and so rejected. The next day a motion to reconsider was made, which, on the 23d, was lost, 91 to 44.

EUROPEAN AND NORTH AMERICAN RAILWAY.

In the Senate, April 26, a bill was reported to aid in the construction of the European and North American Railway, authorizing the issue of $500,000 scrip, with interest semi-annually at five per cent. provided $1,500,000 be subscribed to the capital, and half that sum be paid in, on various stringent conditions. May 8, this bill was rejected, 16 to 19. May 10, this vote was reconsidered, 17 to 4, and May 12 the bill was passed to be engrossed, 16 to 12. In the House, May 17, the bill was amended by the insertion of a provision relative to the gauge of the railroad, and was then indefinitely postponed.

Several projects for the erection of monuments were brought before the legislature in 1852, as well as in the preceding year. In the House, March 4, the Committee on the Militia reported adversely on the plan for a monument, at Pepperell, to the memory of Prescott. The report was accepted in the House, March 9, and in the Senate, March 11.

In the Senate, March 29, the Committee on the Library reported a resolve to authorize the erection of a monument at Provincetown, commemorative of the first landing of the pilgrims, appropriating $3000 for a monument upon "High Pole Hill," of imperishable materials, on condition of the grant of an acre of land and $1000 by the town or individuals. April 7, the resolve was laid on the table. April 14, it was taken up and refused a third reading, 11 to 22, and thus rejected.

MASSACHUSETTS STATE REGISTER.

Some extracts from the report of a Board of Commissioners on the expediency of a State Reform School for girls were printed in the last volume of the "Register" at page 40. In the House, Jan. 21, it was ordered that the Committee on Public Charitable Institutions consider the expediency of establishing such an institution for young women from eight to twenty years of age. The Committee reported in the Senate, May 7, that it is inexpedient to legislate on the subject, and this report was next day accepted in the Senate, and May 11, in the House.

THE PHONETIC SYSTEM.

In the House, Jan. 30, a petition was presented from James W. Stone and others, trustees of the Boston Phonetic School, in favor of the Phonetic system of instruction, which was referred to the Committee on Education. April 13, a majority of the Committee made a report, concluding with the statement that they deemed the subject of sufficient importance to be worthy of the attention of school committees and of those who have charge of common school instruction. At the same time a minority report was made, giving the petitioners leave to withdraw. April 16, one thousand extra copies of these reports were ordered to be printed. April 20, the reports were laid on the table. Having been taken up, April 30, a motion to substitute the concluding paragraph of the minority report was made, and prevailed, and the report was then accepted as amended, thus giving the petitioners leave to withdraw. In the Senate, May 3, the report was amended by the substitution of a resolve recommending the "phonetic system" to those who have charge of common school instruction, which was ordered to a third reading, and May 5, was passed to be engrossed. In the House, May 7, this resolve was non-concurred in, 36 to 31, and the next day a motion to reconsider this vote was lost.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

In the House, Feb. 17, and Senate, Feb. 24, a joint committee was raised to consider the expediency of appointing general and local Boards of Health. May 15, this Bill was indefinitely postponed, 13 to 8.

In the Senate, April 14, a resolve was reported allowing to the Female Medical Education Society $10,000, from the School Fund, to be applied in promoting the objects of the society, provided $20,000 be obtained for the same purpose from individual donations. April 21, the resolve was ordered to a third reading, and April 23, passed to be engrossed. In the House, May 11, the Bill was rejected, 118 to 89.

LITERARY EXCHANGES.

In the Senate, March 19, the Committee on the Library reported a resolve concerning literary and scientific exchanges, providing for a discontinuance of the system of international exchanges on the part of Massachusetts. March 22, the resolve was passed to be engrossed. In the House, April 5, the resolve was rejected.

REVISION OF STATUTES.

In the House, January 19, it was ordered that the Committee on the Judiciary consider the expediency of a general revision of all the Statutes of the Commonwealth, since 1836, the date of the Revised Statutes. February 9, the Committee reported that it is inexpedient to legislate on the subject. Feb. 11, this report was accepted, and on next day, a motion to reconsider was rejected.

LAW OF EVIDENCE.

In the Senate, April 1, the Committee on the Judiciary, on an order of March 6, reported a bill to amend the law of evidence, so as to remove the disability of persons not believing in God or a future state of rewards and punishments from testifying in any case, civil or criminal. April 24, the bill was amended, ordered to a third reading, and under suspension of the rules passed to be engrossed. In the House, April 29, the bill was rejected, 95 to 74; and the next day a motion to reconsider this vote was lost, 134 to 160.

CRIER IN COURTS.

In the House, April 26, a Special Committee, already raised, was ordered to consider the expediency of abolishing the office of Crier of Courts in the Commonwealth. April 30, the Committee reported a bill to this end, by which the duties of erier would be devolved upon sheriffs and their deputies, without further compensation. May 15, the bill was refused to be passed to be engrossed, 158 to 121, and thus rejected.

PERSONAL LIBERTY.

In the Senate, March 27, a Special Committee reported a bill further to protect personal liberty, providing for the appointment in each county of Commissioners to defend persons claimed as fugitive slaves, and authorizing the issue of writs of habeas corpus in their behalf, by Clerks of Courts and Justices of the Peace, and directing the Courts to which writs are returnable, to give a trial by jury to the parties. April 22, this bill was ordered a third reading, 18 to 16. April 23, it was passed to be engrossed. In the House, May 11, the bill was ordered to a third reading, 146 to 141. A motion to reconsider, under the previous question, called for by a vote of 112 to 86, was lost, 126 to 131. May 15, it was refused to be passed to be engrossed, 156 to 167, and thus rejected. A motion to reconsider this vote being made, May 17, a motion to lay it upon the table was lost, 110 to 124, but being renewed after some further proceedings, prevailed, 153 to 107.

In the House, April 23, the resolves concerning slavery were indefinitely postponed, 178 to 162.

TEN HOUR SYSTEM.

In the House, April 15, three reports were made by the Special Committee upon this subject: the first a reference of the matter to the next General Court, the second a bill establishing ten hours as a day's work, and the third proposing to establish it as twelve hours after July 4, 1852, eleven hours after October, and ten hours after July 4, 1853. May 7, the last was rejected, 117 to 48, the next, 94 to 45, and the first report (reference) accepted.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION.

In the Senate, May 11, the Committee on the Judiciary reported a bill increasing the amount of Homestead Exemption from the value of $500 to $1000. May 12, the bill was ordered to a third reading, and May 13, passed to be engrossed. In the House, May 14, the Committee on the Judiciary, to whom it had been referred, reported that it ought to pass. May 18, indefinitely postponed.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

In the Senate, May 15, it was reported that it is inexpedient to amend the constitution so as to allow the right of suffrage to women. This report was accepted.

BRIBERY AT ELECTIONS.

In the House, April 19, the Committee on the Judiciary reported a Bill concerning bribery and corruption in elections, providing as punishment for the attempts to corrupt or influence any voter by money, terror, or threats, imprisonment of two years, and fine of $2000; or when the person bribing is an inhabitant of another town or city, or subject or agent of any foreign power, imprisonment of five years, and fine of $5000; the person bribed to be competent as a witness. In the House, May 17, this Bill was refused a third reading, 101 to 198, and thus rejected.

PLURALITY ELECTIONS.

In the House, March 26, the Committee on the Judiciary reported that it is inexpedient to legislate on the election of city officers by plurality. April 5, this report was recommitted, with instructions to report a Bill; a motion to reconsider this vote was made the next day, and lost on the 7th. April 16, the Bill was reported, and April 30, it was rejected, 177 to 111.

In the Senate, April 13, a Bill was introduced for the repeal of so much of the plurality law as relates to the choice of Presidential electors, and was referred to a special committee.—April 15, the committee reported that it ought to pass. April 20, it was passed to be engrossed, 16 to 10. In the House, May 7, the Committee on the Judiciary, to which it had been referred, reported that it ought to pass. May 10, a motion to lay the Bill on the table was lost, 158 to 164, and a short time afterwards, the same day, the same motion was again lost, 168 to 146. May 11, it was indefinitely postponed, 185 to 170.

In the Senate, May 6, the Committee on the Judiciary asked to be discharged from further consideration of the subject, and May 10, this report was accepted.

SINGLE STATE REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICTS.

In the Senate, March 13, a Bill was reported by the Joint Special Committee on the part of the Governor's Address, relating to the subject, providing for the division of cities and large towns into single representative districts, for the choice of representatives to the General Court. In the Senate, March 16, an order, asking the opinion of the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court on the constitutional right of the legislature to pass such a Bill, was laid on the table, 18 to 16. May 5, the Bill was ordered to a third reading. May 7, it was passed to be engrossed. In the House, May 14, the bill was laid on the table.

REMOVAL OF THE SEAT OF GOVERNMENT.

In the House, March 31, the special committee raised in the House, Jan. 28, and in the Senate, Feb. 9, to consider the expediency of removing the seat of government from Boston to some town in the interior of the Commonwealth, reported a resolve providing for the appointment of five commissioners to select a site, and to procure plans and estimates for the erection of a State House, to report to the next General Court. April 9, these resolves were laid on the table.

RAILROADS.

In the Senate, April 3, a Bill was reported in addition to an amendment of the Act of 1845, to regulate the use of railroads, giving the power to fix compensation, in case of disagreement between corporations, to county commissioners, instead of commissioners appointed by the Supreme Court. April 14, this Bill was indefinitely postponed.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

In the House, a joint special committee raised on the subject, reported a Bill providing for the appointment of a Board of Railway Commissioners, three in number, to be appointed by the Governor and Council, for three years, one to go out of office each year, whose duties would be at least twice a year to go over each railroad and examine its condition as regards construction, equipment, &c.; and also to inquire into its pecuniary affairs, with the right to examine directors, agents and other witnesses. The Commissioners would make an annual report to the legislature, and special reports in particular cases. They would be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties. Their compensation would be $5 a day, and $1 for each twenty miles' travel, the amount of which, together with the clerk hire, would be assessed on the various railroad corporations in proportion to their capital—and they should be allowed free passage over the railroads, whenever on official business. Feb. 19, the Bill was indefinitely postponed.

SAVINGS INSTITUTIONS.

In the Senate, May 14, it was ordered that the opinion of the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court be asked on this question:—Is the Provident Institution of Savings, in Boston, chartered in 1816, subject to the general laws in relation to institutions for savings passed since that time? And the President of the Senate was authorized to direct the publication of the answer before the next session of the legislature. [The opinion has since been given, and has been published in accordance with the order.]

PARISHES AND RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES.

A bill concerning Parishes and Religious Societies, authorizing the assessment of parochial charges upon pews, by vote of three-fourths of the pew-owners, having passed both Houses of the Legislature, was laid before the Governor, May 7, for his revision. In the Senate, May 12, the bill was returned by the Governor, with his objections thereto. May 17, a vote on passing the bill, notwithstanding the Governor's dissent, resulted in its loss. May 19, a new bill, framed so as to obviate the objections of the Governor, by the alteration of "three-fourths" to "all" of the pew-owners, was introduced, and subsequently became a law. (See Act, No. 319.)

THE LIQUOR LAW.

A bill concerning the manufacture and sale of spirituous or intoxicating liquors, not differing, except as regards the time and manner of taking effect, from the Act (No. 322), having been passed in both branches, and submitted to the Governor, he returned it, May 19, with his objections to its passage, which consisted chiefly in the fact, that it provided for submitting the question of the suspension of its operation to the people by open, instead of secret ballot. The vote, on passing the bill, notwithstanding the Governor's objection, not resulting in a majority of two-thirds in favor thereof, a new bill was introduced in the Senate the same day, which was ordered to a third reading, 24 to 13, and under a suspension of the rules forthwith passed to be engrossed, and then sent to the House. The House refused to receive the bill, as draughted, it being a printed slip cut from the "Massachusetts Life Boat" newspaper, while the joint rules and orders require that bills and resolves shall be written out fairly on at least one sheet of paper, and accordingly returned it to the Senate. Here it was draughted anew, and sent again to the House, which had just adjourned. The next morning (May 20) in the House, an amendment, striking out the provision for a reference to the people, was adopted, 187 to 164, and the bill was ordered to a third reading, 164 to 106, and under a suspension of the rules was forthwith passed to be engrossed. The Senate concurred in the amendment, 20 to 19. The next day (May 21) this vote was reconsidered, 23 to 17; the Senate refused to concur, 17 to 23. The House refused, however, to recede, 161 to 181; whereupon the Senate agreed to recede, 27 to 13, and the bill was passed to be enacted in the Senate, 21 to 14 (two gentlemen having paired off,) and in the House without a count.

CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS.

Several cases of disputed elections were decided by the House during the session, after investigation by the Committee on Elections, appointed January 24, and consisting of the following gentlemen:—Messrs. Davis, of Worcester; Schouler, of Boston; Simonds, of Bedford; Richmond, of New Bedford; and Brown, of Cheshire.

1. The first case was that of eight members from Lowell. It appeared that these gentlemen had majorities of the whole number of votes cast at the election, on the second Monday of November, which was regularly and properly conducted. There were, however, some informalities in the returns from the ward officers in one of the wards, which had caused the Mayor and Aldermen to deny the validity of the election. These informalities the House did not regard as essential, and January 31, accepted the report made January 15, allowing the eight members their seats.

2. The next case was that of Mr. Nye, of Plympton, the same gentleman whose right to his seat the preceding year, was made the subject of much discussion, as indicated at page 35 of the "Register" for 1852. The remonstrance against the validity of his election this year arose from the fact that the town clerk dying in the course of the year, a temporary appointment was made by the Selectmen, and the town clerk pro tem., thus appointed, officiated at the election, none of the voters at the time objecting. The report confirming his right to his seat, was made February 5, and accepted February 9.

3. The next case was that of Mr. Fenno, of North Chelsea. At the election on the fourth Monday of November, it was declared that there was no choice, Mr. Fenno lacking one of the number necessary for a choice, and two unsealed envelopes, containing one a vote for him and the other a vote for David Belcher, being counted. A certificate was granted Mr. Fenno, however, subsequently, on the ground that the latter was unsealed when deposited in the box, with regard to which point the evidence was conflicting. The Committee decided that in such cases the presumption should be that the envelope was sealed; and, consequently, should be counted. Another sufficient ground for invalidating the election, in the opinion of the Committee, was that time enough was not allowed after opening the meeting before proceeding to ballot, for making, discussing and determining the question, whether the town would send this year, being entitled only to three Representatives in the nine years. A ballot for Mr. Fenno, not in an envelope, was rightly rejected. This report, vacating the seat, was made February 18, and accepted Feb. 21. A motion to reconsider, made Feb. 23, was lost, and the Committee on the Pay-Roll was ordered to make up Mr. Fenno's account, Feb. 25.

4. The next case was that of Mr. Abbott, of Danvers. This gentleman had a majority of the votes at the election, including two representative ballots, which were on a separate piece of paper from those for Governor, &c., although in the same envelopes; while the warrant for the town meeting directed that all the ballots should be on one piece of paper. The Committee reported, March 10, that this article in the warrant was merely directory and as a matter of convenience, and its infringement was not essential, as there could be no doubt about the intent of the voters, and the whole number of ballots cast; and this report confirming the seat was accepted, March 13.

5. The next case was that of Mr. Whitcomb, of Bolton. Here the majority of the committee reported against his right to the seat, and the minority made a report on the other side. The remonstrance against his right was made on two grounds, first, that nine envelopes were rejected as unsealed which should have been counted; and second, that two votes for other persons than Whitcomb, were by the neglect of the Selectmen found in some of the envelopes which had been used after the election was over. In answer to the first ground, it was shown that the evidence was conflicting on the point whether the counting of the rejected ballots would have altered the result; one witness declaring that Mr. Whitcomb had but two of the nine, and another that he had four. In the latter case he would have received, first, one-half of the number of votes; and if there was also counted in his favor the vote of Mr. John Stone, whose vote was rejected on the ground of the removal of his family and part of his goods from the town, Whitcomb would have been elected, even supposing the unsealed envelopes were not rightfully rejected. If they were rightfully rejected, he did not need Stone's vote. In answer to the second ground, it was urged that to allow the counting of votes found in envelopes after the meeting had closed, in stores and dwelling houses, was opening a door to possible fraud, seriously endangering the purity of the ballot. April 6, the minority report was accepted, 125 to 42, and thus Mr. Whitcomb retained his seat.

6. The next case was that of Mr. Clafin, of Hopkinton. Here also the Committee was divided. Mr. Clafin had exactly the number of votes necessary for a choice, if seven envelopes found unsealed were rejected. These envelopes contained five votes for Charles Seaver, and two for Mr. Clafin. If they were counted, there was no choice. One of them was observed to be unsealed when it was put in the ballot box. The Committee on Elections, by a unanimous vote in the early part of the session, before this case was considered, adopted as a rule, that "envelopes found in the ballot box unsealed should be counted," which was applied in the case of Mr. Fanno above. The House, however, seemed to entertain some doubts on the certainty of the identity of the seven envelopes which were found to contain the five and two votes, with the rejected envelopes; the evidence on this point not being wholly satisfactory. The reports were made March 16. April 6, a motion to substitute the minority report, vacating the seat, was lost, 73 to 98, and the majority report was accepted, and so Mr. Clafin retained his seat.

7. Several citizens of Boston remonstrated against the right of Mr. Holman, of Boston, to his seat. March 19, the Committee reported that they have leave to withdraw, and the report was forthwith accepted without opposition.

8. The next case was that of Mr. Graves, of Sunderland. The majority of the Committee reported, March 17, against his right to his seat, on the ground that two votes for William Russell, which were found in the envelopes after it had been declared that he was elected, should have been counted, in which case there would have been no choice. On finding these two votes, the Selectmen announced that there was no choice, and the inhabitants present, 11 to 3, voted not to send. The minority of the Committee reported, March 18, that Mr. Graves was entitled to his seat. April 6, a motion to substitute this latter report prevailed, and he accordingly retained his seat.

9. A remonstrance was presented against the right of Mr. Knight, of Hull, to his seat, on which the Committee reported, March 26, leave to withdraw, and this report was next day accepted without opposition.

10. The next case was that of Mr. Henry, of Chester. The remonstrance to his right was founded on the admitted fact that two persons other than the Selectmen took part, at their request, in opening envelopes and counting votes, which was also done in other towns. The Committee reported, April 2, that they regarded this practice exceptional, yet as it was not contended that Mr. Henry did not receive a majority of votes, he was entitled to his seat; and this report was accepted April 23.

11. The next and last case was that of Mr. Webb, of Otis. His election was alleged to have been made on the fourth Monday of November. At the opening of the meeting then, a motion to dissolve the meeting was made, but the Selectmen refused to put it, and the balloting proceeding, Mr. Webb was elected. The majority of the Committee reported, April 30, that the refusal to put the motion to dissolve the meeting, which was equivalent to a motion not to send, invalidated the subsequent election. One of the Committee, May 5, made a minority report on the other side. May 8, a motion to substitute the latter report failed, and the majority report, vacating the seat, was accepted. May 10, a motion to reconsider was lost, and the Committee on the Pay Roll were ordered to make up Mr. Webb's account to the 11th, inclusive.

CHANGE OF NAMES.

By an Act (No. 256) at the session of 1851, the legislature provided that in future, changes of names of persons should be made under the authority of Judges of Probate, instead of by the legislature, as formerly, and that a return of these changes should be made to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and printed with the Statutes. The operation of this law has been somewhat remarkable. The annual "Act to change the names of the persons therein mentioned" had in previous years always been a very long one, the number of persons applying for change of name being large. A great deal of labor was thus imposed upon Committees and members of the legislature, of which the new law not only relieves them, but, as it appears, does so without transferring scarcely any burden to other shoulders. At the session of 1851, under the old system, no less than one hundred and eighty-six persons had their names changed, being the number for one year. Under the new system, it appears that only three persons changed their names in the six months ending Dec. 1, 1851. The Statutes for 1852 contain the returns of the Judges of Probate, for that time, showing that only one change each has been granted in Essex, Worcester and Norfolk counties. It is difficult to say to what cause this remarkable and excessive diminution is to be ascribed, unless perhaps it may be the slight expense to which it is probable applicants are now subjected, or the strictness of Judges of Probate in requiring sufficient reasons before granting changes.

Summaries of the statistics embraced in some of the most interesting and important reports to the Legislature will be found in another part of this volume.

 Hill, J. Henry, Worcester.

COMMISSIONERS,

Resident in other States, who have been appointed by the Government of Massachusetts, to take testimony and depositions to be read in the Courts of Massachusetts—also to administer Oaths, and to take the Acknowledgment of Deeds, Powers of Attorney, and all instruments under seal to be recorded in said Commonwealth.

[NOTE.—On the 1st of Sept., 1852, desiring to make the following list as correct as possible, a circular was addressed to each of the persons named below, inquiring if they were legally qualified commissioners for this State, with the intention of striking out all not heard from. As a very few residing in the most distant States replied, it was thought best to continue all the names another year, putting a * against all who had not been heard from, and who, therefore, may not be legally qualified, although they have been appointed to act as commissioners for this State.]

DUKES COUNTY

Comprises Martha's Vineyard, Chappaquiddick, Elizabeth Islands, and Noman's Land lying south from Barnstable County, containing about 130 square miles. These islands were discovered by Bartholomew Gosnold in 1602.

During the Summer all passenger trains proceed to and from Phillips Wharf in Salem, connecting with the steamboat which runs regularly between the wharf and Lowell Island.

Freight trains are run between Salem and Lawrence, as well as between Salem and Lowell.

The freight station at Salem is Phillips Wharf, where goods transported on the railroad are landed and shipped free of wharfage, and also without charge for truckage, freight cars being loaded and unloaded alongside vessels and stores. The wharf affords good berths for a large number of vessels, and being situated at the mouth of the harbor, can be reached without obstruction (from bridges or other cause) and without delay. The detention of vessels in loading and unloading is much less than is usual elsewhere. The harbor may be entered by vessels of the largest class in any state of the wind or tide.

No. 10 State Street, Boston,

122 Nassau St., New York,

ARE THE AGENTS FOR THE

BEST AND MOST WIDELY CIRCULATED NEWSPAPERS throughout the United States and British Provinces, and they are regularly received and filed at their offices, where SUBSCRIPTIONS AND ADVERTISEMENTS are taken for them. Merchants, and other Advertisers, are respectfully invited to call and examine Papers and Prices.

ADVANTAGES TO ADVERTISERS.

IN PETTENGILL & Co's ADVERTISING AGENCY, much time, trouble, and expense are saved the advertiser:

First. By selecting papers of the largest circulation, and best adapted to the business of the advertiser.

Second. By making out the price of the advertisement for any length of time before sending it, so that the advertiser will know the exact amount of his bill when due.

Third. By seeing that each advertisement is inserted in the manner stipulated, and sent promptly.

Fourth. By sending the advertiser one copy of each paper containing the advertisement, and filing each paper so that it can be seen at any time, at their offices.

Fifth. The prices of advertising will be the same as are charged to large customers at the offices of publication, and will be less than are generally charged to those whose responsibility is unknown.

Sixth. Practical information respecting the value of different mediums for advertising, will be cheerfully communicated, and assistance rendered without charge.

MASSACHUSETTS MILITIA.

[Corrected at the office of the Adjutant-General, to December, 1852.]

The Militia of Massachusetts is divided into two classes, the active and enrolled; the latter consists of all "able-bodied white male citizens, of the age of eighteen years, and under that of forty-five, excepting persons enlisted into volunteer companies, and persons exempted by law, or incapacitated by physical and other causes." [See sec. 5, Militia Law.] The whole number enrolled in 1852, as appears from the Returns of Assessors of cities and towns, (whose duty it is to make such returns,) is 116,546.

The Active Militia consists of Volunteers, who are paid a per diem allowance when on duty, amounting, in the whole, to $8.50 per annum, each man. They consist, by the Brigade Returns of 1850, of 5,652 men. These are organized into three Divisions and six Brigades, embracing two Divisionary Corps of Cadets, two Troops of Cavalry, four Regiments, and four Companies "annexed" of Artillery, and nine Regiments of Light Infantry.

The STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS are designed for those only who purpose to teach, and especially for those who purpose to teach in the Common Schools. Of those who avail themselves of the advantages of these Schools, and who afterwards become teachers in the Common Schools of Massachusetts, no tuition fee is required. There are at present three in this Commonwealth; one at West Newton, Middlesex County; one at Bridgewater, Plymouth County; and one at Westfield, Hampden County.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT WEST NEWTON.

Ellen S. Stearns, Principal.

This School has the honor of being the first and oldest institution of this class in the New World. Originally established at Lexington, July 3, 1839, it was transferred in May, 1844, to West Newton. The building which it occupies was the gift of Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr.

Pupils are admitted on the day preceding the commencement of every other term.

There are three terms in the year. The Winter Term commences on the 2d Wednesday in December, and continues 15 weeks. The Summer Term commences on the 2d Wednesday in April, and continues 15 weeks. The Autumn Term commences on the first Wednesday in September, and continues 12 weeks.

BRIDGEWATER STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

Nicholas Tillinghast, Principal; Albert G. Boyden, Assistant.

Those who enter this school, male pupils must be at least 17, and females at least 16 years of age.

The first term in the year 1853 will commence January 26. The term following, July 27, 1853.

The Fall River railroad passes through Bridgewater, and the Normal School House is but a few rods from the depot.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT WESTFIELD.

David S. Rowe, Principal.

This school first went into operation at Barre, September 4, 1839. In 1841 it was suspended, and in September, 1844, was re-commenced at Westfield.

Terms.—The school year is divided into three equal terms, of 14 weeks each, commencing as follows:—

The Spring and Summer Term, the 1st Wednesday in April.

The Fall Term, the 3d Wednesday in August.

MASSACHUSETTS PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND PUBLIC TEACHERS.

(Prepared by Jonathan Tenney, Esq., Principal of Pittsfield High School.)

This list is intended to include the names of all the Towns which are required by Revised Statutes, Chap. 23, Sec. 5, to maintain what is commonly called a Grammar or High School, from year to year, "for the benefit of all the inhabitants of the Town;" with the names of the Male Teachers of such schools. Some towns which are not required by law so to do, sustain such schools, and are mentioned so far as known. The Female Principals of the higher grades of Public Schools are also named. The State Normal Schools, being one class of Public Schools, are also embraced in this list.

It will be seen that many towns are not represented by Schools and Teachers in this Catalogue. Some of these, we are sure, and most of the others, probably, have, as yet, neglected to regard the requirements of the Statutes above referred to, and are liable to the penalties of the law for so doing. We hope that the friends of sound, universal education in those towns, will soon take effective measures, that they may be found in the same high rank in relation to schools, "the chief glory of our State," in which they may find most of their sister towns of like population and wealth. So, and so alone, may they hope that their sons may become "pillars" and their daughters "corner-stones" of society.

This is the first attempt ever made to make out and publish a Catalogue of the Professional Teachers of this or any other State. We wish it were complete. No reasonable pains have been spared to make it so. If any teacher finds his name omitted, or any error, let him think, before he complains, whether he has carefully answered the Circular sent to his town to get this same information. We wish all errors to be corrected, and the list extended and perfected, before another year; and shall feel greatly obliged to all who aid in doing these things.

The compiler of this Catalogue hopes it will be found interesting for its information, and useful for reference to his fellow Teachers and all friends of education. If desired, it may be made complete another year, with the addition of much more interesting matter now only partially gathered.

* Three towns, Winthrop, Swampscott, and Marion, were incorporated by the last Legislature, and their returns are included in the towns of which they formed a part.

U., and Vt. U., for Brown, Harvard, and Vermont Universities,—B. N. S. and W. N. S., for Bridgewater and Westfield Normal Schools,—each respectively.

INCORPORATED ACADEMIES IN MASSACHUSETTS.

This list is supposed to be a complete and accurate one of all the Institutions of Learning that have been incorporated in this State. It has been made from a careful examination of the State Laws. With the lists of Public and Private Schools, it furnishes an outline of the History of Education in the State; an instructive history, too. Some of these institutions never went into operation; some lived but for a day; some struggled long, and then went down; some, though old, are still in the vigor of healthful life; some are declining; some have reappeared in a new form; some have just commenced a hopeful career of usefulness.

The increase of a high order of Public Schools is making all these, except Colleges and Professional Seminaries, in less demand—a demand which will continue less and less, as long as the present wise policy of the State continues. These Schools did a great work while they were needed; some of them may yet long be needed. But no good Teacher, no intelligent and liberal friend of sound learning, will regret the increase of Grammar and High Schools of the right stamp, open for all the children of the State, who have minds, and hearts, and a will to learn, even "without money and without price." As they multiply, the best professional teachers will be called into them; the rising generations will be trained in them.—Neither will lack a place in which to teach or learn.

Here, as in the other lists, the names of teachers of Penmanship, Painting, Drawing, and Music are not generally inserted. They seem to form, each a profession peculiar to itself, and distinct from Teachers of Languages, Belles Lettres, and the Natural and Exact Sciences. We hope some one of each of these will see that, hereafter, his own useful profession is represented among the men of "Business," in a Business Register of the State. We would be glad to give the names of all Lady Teachers, too; but they are "too numerous to mention" at this time; and, besides, are not apt to make teaching schools a profession for a long time.

HISTORICAL AND COMMEMORATIVE ASSOCIATIONS.

American Antiquarian Society, Worcester.

Incorporated 1812. The American Antiquarian Society, established for the purpose of collecting and preserving the materials of history, more especially American History, was incorporated by the Legislature of Massachusetts, in 1812.

Isaiah Thomas, the distinguished Printer and Publisher, and author of "The History of Printing in America," was the first President, and has been the greatest benefactor of this Institution. A brick edifice for the Library and Cabinet, erected at his expense, was completed in 1820. His private collection of books, which was a very considerable one, became the basis of the Library. Extensive additions were made to the building after his death, from resources provided by his will; and the principal portion of the funds of the Society, now amounting to more than $27,000, resulted from his bequests.

The Library of the Society now exceeds 16,000 volumes. Its cabinet contains many articles of curiosity and interest; and its manuscripts, coins, &c., are of considerable value. Two volumes of Transactions, and a catalogue of the Library, have been published; and a third volume of Transactions is in preparation for the press.

There are two meetings of the Society in the year; one at Worcester, on the 23d day of October, the day on which Columbus discovered America; the other in Boston, on the last Wednesday of May. The Council of the Society meet on the last Wednesday of each month, at the Antiquarian Hall, in Worcester.

The Thursday Lecture.

This Lecture was commenced by John Cotton, second Pastor of the First Church in Boston, in 1623, and at first sustained by himself alone. Afterwards, by courtesy, it came to be preached by each of the ministers of the Boston Association in turn. In the year 1845, the Association gave it back into the hands of the Pastor of the First Church, to whom, by right, it still belonged. By his invitation the following gentlemen assist in sustaining the Lecture. It is preached by them in the order of their college graduation.

By an act of the last Legislature, an important change was made in the Judiciary of this State. The District Courts, which took the place of old Courts of Common Pleas, were abolished; and all their jurisdiction transferred to the Supreme Judicial Court, to which bench three additional judges were authorized by the above act. The State is now divided into three Judicial Districts, denominated the Western, Middle, and Eastern Districts; and for the purpose of hearing and determining questions of law and equity, the terms are held for these districts, instead of being held, as heretofore, in the several counties. These terms are held annually in Portland for the Western, in Augusta for the Middle, and in Bangor for the Eastern District. The other cases are tried, as heretofore, in the several counties where they are commenced.

The following is a correct statement of the electoral votes given to the various candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, since the adoption of the Constitution. It should be observed that at the first four elections the Colleges of Electors were required to vote for two persons, the highest of whom should be President, and the next highest Vice President, of the United States. In consequence of the equal vote between Jefferson and Burr, in 1800, the Constitution was amended so as to require the President and Vice President to be voted for separately, as at present.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MASSACHUSETTS.

From the earliest settlement of the country, Massachusetts has stood foremost in every great and good work. Originally settled by stern and hardy men, the noble qualities of the Puritans have infused the glow of vigorous growth and promise into her every system. Other States may excel in extent of territory and fertility of soil, in the grandeur and variety of scenery afforded by lofty mountains and wide-spread prairies, mighty lakes and majestic rivers; but none can surpass her in ancestral glory, in present development and future promise. Probably a greater proportion of its inhabitants are of Anglo-Saxon origin than in any other State out of New England. The early settlers were men of independent faith, iron will and unbending integrity. Experiencing in their native land the bitter fruits of intolerance and despotism, they sought these shores for the enjoyment of their religious belief. To the dawn of religious toleration succeeded the birth of political freedom. Drinking thus at the fountains of universal liberty, "the young child grew," and its expanding ideas revolted at the unjust exactions of the mother country. From the first encroachment upon her rights to the Revolution, Massachusetts manfully met, intelligently discussed and firmly maintained her rights. Those years of struggle eminently qualified the actors in the Revolution to sustain themselves with honor and to terminate it with triumphant victory.

With Massachusetts the war of the Revolution not only originated, but it was here that the first blood was shed for the cause of liberty. With pride she can point to her monuments sacred to the memory of her martyrs. But with a prouder spirit she can point to her glorious institutions, and to the living representatives of an honored ancestry. The fearless energy of the pilgrim fathers is seen at this moment giving life to every enterprise prosecuted in the State. In her numerous schools and churches; her institutions for the moral and social development of her people; in her newspapers and works of literature; in the extent of her manufactories, and the number of her mechanical trades; in her railroads and telegraphs; in her banks and insurance companies; in the extended area of commerce encircling the globe; in the sagacity and soundness of her merchants; in the genius and skill of her artisans; in the wonderful improvements in agriculture; in the increased facilities for domestic comfort; and in the industry of her million of people, may be seen the unconquerable spirit which laid the foundations of her present prosperity.

LIBRARIES.

The Smithsonian Institute has recently published a valuable report on public libraries. It was compiled by Professor Jewett, and it is, without doubt, the most reliable work on the subject which has been issued from the press. From this report, we learn that there are now upwards of five hundred public libraries in the United States. This number, however, does not include the libraries of the district and primary schools, or even the academies and other smaller associations. The State of New York has fifty-seven libraries, and the Astor Library, it is said, is next in the number of its books to that of Harvard University, which is the largest library on this continent. It has upwards of one hundred thousand volumes, in which are some of the rarest and most valuable works to be found in the world.

Throughout the State of Massachusetts, there are a multitude of public and private libraries, and there is no one of the thousands of its inhabitants, however humble their sphere, but what can enjoy the means of improving his mind, by the perusal of useful and scientific works. The increased attention which is bestowed upon the subject of public libraries, throughout the Commonwealth, is indeed gratifying. Liberal donations are being constantly made towards encouraging and building up these useful associations. Upon this, and kindred subjects, Massachusetts maintains a most conspicuous and honorable position before the world. This position must be maintained, and we would suggest that each town in the Commonwealth take effectual measures to secure the advantages of a free library to each of its citizens.

For the purpose of aiding those who are about establishing new, or refurnishing old libraries, we would state that an agency devoted exclusively to the supply of libraries, and the furnishing of literary works, has been established by Mr. Wm. W. Tufts, at 91 Washington street, Boston. As an agency of this kind was greatly needed, and as the time of the agent is given wholly to the business, it must meet with general approval, and become of great advantage to librarians, and literary and professional gentlemen.

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE CITY OF BOSTON.

OFFICERS, 1852—1853.

*Board of Trustees.

Hon. Edward Everett, LL.D., George Ticknor LL.D., Hon. John P. Bigelow, Nathaniel B. Shurtleff, M. D., and Thomas G. Appleton, Esq.

Librarian, Edward Capen.

The Public Library gives promise of becoming one of the most useful and important institutions of the city. A Board of Trustees for its management was constituted at the end of May last, and early in July they reported a plan for it, which was accepted by the City Council in August. This plan contemplated the establishment of the Library, for a time, in the lower story of the Mason Street School House; and the building committee, charged with preparing rooms there for the purpose of receiving it, have nearly fulfilled their duty. A Librarian has, also, been appointed, who has been making proper catalogues of the books already belonging to the city, so as to have them ready for general use and circulation. Meanwhile liberal and intelligent citizens have made important donations to it, and these, with the means provided by the city, have enabled the Trustees to prepare for opening the Library, as soon as the walls of its rooms are sufficiently dry, and the first purchases of books are completed and put in order for use.

While these arrangements were in progress, a letter was received from Joshua Bates, Esq., of London, who began in this city a mercantile career which has raised him to distinction, offering to give the munificent sum of fifty thousand dollars to purchase books for the Library, if the City would erect a becoming building to receive it, and to receive and accommodate suitably those who may wish to use it. This offer the City Council at once gratefully accepted, and referred the whole matter to the Trustees of the Library, who, it is understood, will report such measures as it may be suitable to adopt in order to give full effect to this provision.

PUBLIC HEALTH IN MASSACHUSETTS,

As indicated by the Statistics of the Population, Births, Marriages and Deaths, under the Registration Laws. Prepared by J. CURTIS, M. D., of Boston, who has superintended the Registration Reports of the present Law, under the authority of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The physical condition or degree of public health in any community or country is generally a very accurate and reliable index of the prosperity and happiness of the inhabitants thereof. The sources of information on these points in Massachusetts are, through our legislative enactments, superior to those of any other State in the Union. This State has the honor of being the first in this country to establish a useful system of Registration. England preceded us a few years, and they are now reaping the fruits by the development of some of the most important facts connected with the well-being of man. Our own system, founded in a measure on that of England, has been followed by similar enactments, establishing a Registry of Births, Marriages and Deaths in at least half a dozen other States. Under the law in this State, facts have been accumulating now for more than ten years, and are mostly embodied in the ten annual Registration Reports which have been made officially to the Legislature.

The returns from which these Reports with their abstracts have been made, have been constantly becoming more and more complete and accurate from year to year. Some towns, however, even yet, are delinquent, and a non-performance of duty on the part of the town officers in so important a measure as this, should be followed by the penalty of the law. The Tenth Report speaks in pretty plain terms of those Town Clerks who have repeatedly violated their official oaths by neglect, and it is to be hoped that this is but a step from some more tangible action which shall effect the enforcement of the law.

All of the cities and larger towns are quite faithfully represented in the completeness of record and return, if we except the city of Salem. The smaller towns of Dennis, Upton, Cheshire and Rouse, are also guilty of gross neglect of duty. The cities of Boston and Lowell, as well as most other places, employ very efficient and faithful officers. Completeness and accuracy are very essential requisites in historical records or statistical observations.

A certified copy of the record of births, marriages and deaths in each town, is, under the present law, returned annually to the office of Secretary of State, and under his authority the Abstracts and Reports are made to the Legislature. The ten Reports have consequently been made under five different officers, and now are to pass to a sixth. The different Secretaries have committed the business generally to different clerks who happened to be in the Department of State at the time.

"It will be considered no disparagement to those who have exceeded all reasonable expectations of them, to allude to the unmistakable fact, that the Abstracts lack a desired uniformity, and some of them give evidence of a deficiency in the proper and peculiar qualifications necessary in their compilation. Important points have been omitted in some of them, and occasional errors have crept in. Under present arrangements, it cannot be expected to be otherwise."

It is to be hoped, therefore, that such modifications shall be made as to submit the whole subject to one officer, well qualified for the post and adapted to its peculiar as well as important duties, as the city of Boston has done in the selection of its able City Registrar. The present laws of the State, under the general guidance of a proper person for a State Register, would become very efficient and greatly enhanced in value. May we not urge these considerations upon the attention of our legislative body.

While these imperfections exist, it is nevertheless true that many points are very reliable, and safe deductions can be made from them. We here propose to give a summary of the statistical facts presented under the operation of the law in this State, avoiding all that is vague and indefinite.

POPULATION.

By the official United States censuses of 1840 and 1850 we find an increase during the ten years, of 256,814, or 34.81 per cent. on the population of 1840. Some sections of the State show a much higher proportional rate of increase. The county of Middlesex exhibits the highest, it being no less than 61.37 per cent. Next follows the county of Suffolk, it being 60.89 per cent. These are the only counties in the State whose rate of increase since 1840 has been over fifty per cent. Next follow in order the counties of Norfolk, Essex and Worcester, in each of which the increase has been over thirty-three per cent. Nantucket is in the rear, and shows a decrease of 6.21 per cent. The increase has been mostly confined to the cities and manufacturing towns. Taking the cities and towns of Boston, Lowell, Roxbury, Springfield, Chicopee, Lawrence, Worcester, Charlestown, Cambridge, the Chelseae, &c., they will be found in the aggregate to have increased over sixty-six per cent.

One of the most important elements connected with this topic and worthy of consideration, is in the high proportional increase of foreigners among us. The following statement will exhibit this during the last twenty years:—

Population.	1830.		1840.		1850.
	Number.	Per ct.	Number.	Per ct.	Number.	Per ct.
American,	800,788	98.42	702,832	95.28	830,066	83.46
Foreign,	9,620	1.58	84,818	4.72	164,448	16.54
Total,	810,408	100.	787,700	100.	994,514	100.

The native population therefore increased in the last ten years, only 127,184 or 18.09 per cent., while the foreign population increased 129,630 or 372.30 per cent., being over twenty times as great as the increase of Americans. Twenty years ago there was one foreigner in every thirty-five inhabitants; ten years ago there was one in every twenty-two; and there is now one in every six inhabitants of the Commonwealth. In Boston, in 1845, the number of American children under five years of age was just about equal to the number of those under the same age, of foreign parentage. Among the births and marriages in Boston, during the last three or four years, those of foreign origin are nearly two to one over the natives. The same is true of births in Lowell, Fall River and a few other places. All of our statistics show that this preponderance of the foreign element is increasing very rapidly every year.

BIRTHS.

During the three years, 1849—51, there were 82,118 births in Massachusetts, nearly one-third of which were of foreign parentage. This gives one birth annually to every thirty-six inhabitants, (omitting the population of those few towns which made no returns to the State department.) In Suffolk county alone there was annually one birth in twenty-seven. During the five years, 1839—43, there was annually one birth to every thirty-one inhabitants in England; one in thirty-five in France, and in Prussia and Austria there was one in twenty-six.

In all countries, as a general principle among those born, the males are to the females as 106 to 100. Circumstances, which we have not space here to name, sometimes disturb this proportion. In this State, the males are to the females among the births as 108 to 100.

MARRIAGES.

During the three years, 1849—51, there were 58,494 persons married in Massachusetts. These embrace individuals of all ages between thirteen and ninety-one years. This gives one marriage annually to every 102 inhabitants. In the county of Suffolk the annual rate was one marriage in sixty-four. In England (five years, 1839—43,) there was annually one marriage in every 130 inhabitants; in France and Austria, one in 123; and in Prussia, one in 110. In all of these countries we find the proportion to the population, to be less in the marriages, and at the same time higher as to births, than in this State. In England about eight per cent. of the males and thirteen per cent. of the females enter wedlock under the age of twenty; but in Massachusetts less than two per cent. of the males, and over twenty-four per cent. of the females marry under twenty.

Any serious or extended calamity, as war in the country, famine, severe mortality, rise in the price of provisions, or low wages, invariably produces a decrease of marriages; and their opposites, as peace, plenty, general health, also progress in important scientific discoveries and inventions, calculated to elevate the confidence and hopes of the community, have the effect to increase matrimonial alliances. The Registrar General of England, from observations over a long series of years, states—"That it is a fair deduction from facts, that the marriage returns in that country point out periods of prosperity little less distinctly than the funds measure the hopes and fears of the money market."

DEATHS.

The annual average of deaths in this State is about one in fifty-two inhabitants, or a trifle less than two per cent. But the rate of mortality is not equally distributed over the territory. Berkshire, Barnstable and Norfolk counties show a mortality of less than one in seventy, while in the county of Suffolk there has been annually one death in thirty-five. In the five western counties the deaths in 1849 were in the proportion of one to fifty-three inhabitants, or 1.87 per cent., while the nine eastern counties sustained a mortality of one in forty-seven, or 2.13 per cent. In contrasted cities with country districts we find the difference still greater, and always against the denser populated localities. The ratio of deaths to the living in the country is less than two-thirds of that in the cities of the State. Inasmuch, therefore, as a large proportion of the entire population of the State are dwelling in and near cities, it seems highly desirable and important, not only to be informed of the fact, that, as shown by various ranges of statistics, life is of far less value in such localities, than in other portions of the State, but also to be informed of the causes which contribute to this condition of things, as well as also the remedy. And this is but one among a great many practically useful points which can be determined only by an efficient system of Registration.

Nearly one-fourth of the deaths in Massachusetts occur among those under two years of age; more than one-third, under five, and almost one-half, under ten. The males suffer more severely from mortality than females, in early life; so that, although there are more males than females born, this preponderance is reversed before one year of life has terminated. This discrepancy of deaths in the sexes is greatest in cities and those places where the proportional mortality is highest. The young of both sexes also sustain an undue proportion of the general mortality in the more fatal localities, and in the sickly seasons of the year. August is the most fatal month in cities, and September in the country. The records teach us, as a general law, that the chances of surviving those months are not one-half as great as those of any other month of the year.

Were it not for transcending our proposed limits for this sketch, it would be interesting to notice the relative degree with which the various diseases have pressed upon the citizens of the State. Suffice to say, however, that consumption has been far more rife than any other cause of death. For several years past, there has been an average of a little over 75 births and 50 deaths every day; of the latter, something over ten deaths have occurred daily from consumption alone. This fell destroyer of human life among us is partial to no locality, or season, or age, unless it be in the last particular, to select its victims from among the fairest and most promising in early adult life.

The following abstract will show the influence of different vocations on longevity.

In England their registration reports have been pronounced by high authority "among the most instructive and interesting documents of the day. They are to us what, in an inferior degree, the Saxon chronicles were to the 11th and 12th centuries. They engrave in brief but expressive phases the national vicissitudes, prosperities, trials, and calamities. With these unerring indices, the Registrar General measures the robustness of national vigor, or probes the depth of national suffering. Backed by these ranks of expressive figures, which permit no exaggeration and are susceptible of no fallacy, he presents to us a true picture of the present condition of our country and nation."

In some of the Continental countries the system of registration and the subject of public health, which rests on it as its only reliable foundation, have received even more attention than in England. Geneva has kept a thorough registration for more than three hundred years. France has stood preeminent since the time of Napoleon I. for its active measures concerning public health, and has, at the present time, a thorough system of registration in complete operation. An international Sanitary Convention has lately been held in Paris, and framed laws and regulations to place the sanitary regulations of all the countries bathed by the Mediterranean on a uniform basis.

In our own country, the American Medical Association, comprising the congregated medical knowledge and influence of the United States, have unanimously raised a committee to recommend the Legislature of each State in the Union, to adopt a system of registration. Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky, have already done so, and other states are moving in the same direction. All look to our own State as the pioneer and exemplar in this country.

RAILROADS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

The position of the city of Boston is such as singularly to exclude it from natural means of communication with the interior. It is a metropolis having hardly a natural tie to unite it with the country. Of the principal rivers of New England, not one finds the ocean at the harbor of Boston. The river Charles, whose long and sinuous stream beautifies so many rural prospects, and keeps in motion so many thriving manufactories, hardly aspires to the rank of a navigable stream at the present time. A few wood-coasters, compelled to lay to at half-tide, making the slow and toilsome passage, intercepted by the delays incident to passing draws at no less than ten bridges in half as many miles from the sea to Cambridge or Brighton; the mud-scows employed in filling up the flats; and pleasure-boats, complete the navigation of which this river can now boast. The Mystic River, whose port is rather Charlestown than Boston, is still less of a navigable stream, and floats scarcely any vessels except those built at Medford, which, having once gained the deep ocean, never return over their natal stream, to the ship yards where they were created. The Merrimac River, upon whose waters considerable boating was at one time carried on, finds its outlet in the ocean at a distance of fifty or sixty miles by sea from Boston. The ports of Taunton, New Bedford, Wareham, and Fall River, in Massachusetts; Providence and Newport in Rhode Island; and Norwich and New London in Connecticut; although they are geographically nearer Boston than New York, have a readier access, by the natural communication of direct navigation, to the latter city than the former. And the largest river of Massachusetts, the noble Connecticut, is but a tributary to the harbor of New York; its navigation carrying the produce of Vermont and New Hampshire through our own State, directly towards that city. Many of the interior towns of Massachusetts, and indeed of New England generally, have thus an easier natural communication with some other seaport than with Boston.

These natural disadvantages in the position of the capital of New England were still further increased, before the introduction of railroads, by the nature of the methods of artificial communication then employed, which were not only not adapted to assist Boston, but on the contrary were singularly favorable to the position of New York. Canals could be and were built, which increased the wealth and prosperity of that city; but a canal across the hills of Massachusetts, from Boston to the Hudson, although sometimes talked of by schemers, was too manifestly physically impossible to command the assent of practical men. On the best route that could be found, the number of locks would much more than average one to every mile; and the time ordinarily consumed by boats in the delays at these alone, would make more than twenty-four hours. On the Erie Canal there are two levels, uninterrupted by a single lock, more than sixty miles long. The canals built in Massachusetts, too, with the single exception of the Middlesex Canal, did not tend to advance the interests of Boston. The Hampshire and Hampden Canal connected parts of our State with New Haven, in Connecticut, and the Blackstone Canal with Providence, in Rhode Island. Steamboat navigation, which could not be employed in Boston, found its most favorable field in the place of its introduction, the smooth broad waters of the Hudson; which, together with Long Island Sound, nearly as well adapted for this sort of communication, adds to the resources of the harbor of New York.

It is thus evident, that, prior to the invention of Railroads, Boston was laboring under disadvantages of natural position so great as to make it surprising that the city could have attained so much size and importance while they existed; and disadvantages, too, which were aggravated by the fact that other places enjoyed the correlative advantages in an eminent degree. The prospect of a remedy seemed to be hopeless. The growth of the city seemed to have reached its limit; and to the apprehension of many anxious observers, the seeds of her decay were already planted.

Matters were in this state hardly twenty years ago, when the great modern discovery of the adaptation of Railroads for travel and the transport of merchandise was made. There were fortunately men at that time in Boston, who comprehended the vast importance to their favorite city, of this discovery, as soon as it was made, and who eagerly seized upon it as the means of arresting her decline, and of securing her future growth and prosperity. They saw that the steep hills and rocky fields of Massachusetts, which presented insurmountable obstacles to the making of canals, could easily be traversed by the winding path of the railroad; and that the rapidity of the communication, in which railroad cars have such a conspicuous advantage over canal packets, was an element of great advantage in securing for Boston the trade of those places we have mentioned, which were geographically nearer her than any other port, since, by the railroad, they would be brought as near practically as they were really. These men were prompt in pointing out to their fellow citizens these advantages, and urging them to lose no time in securing them; and the extensive and complete network of railroad lines diverging from Boston, which now covers the whole surface of New England, and the vast amount of capital now invested by Massachusetts in this sort of improvement, no less than the astounding growth of the city and of the State, proves how sound were their views, how well founded their calculations, and how deserving of confidence their counsels. It is worthy of note, also, that every one of the canals which was constructed within the limits of the State has since been abandoned.

Boston alone has not been benefited by the introduction of the Railroad system. The whole State has reaped the advantages and partaken of the general prosperity. There is nothing more strikingly exemplified by census statistics, than that the towns on the lines of railroads are those which exhibit the largest growth and most flourishing prosperity.

The commonwealth is so completely overrun with railroads in every direction that it hardly seems probable that any new through lines will be called for, although doubtless many shorter routes may be built in order to carry the facilities and advantages of this extraordinary mode of communication to localities not now enjoying them. We propose to mention the various roads in the State, in order, giving in a summary manner a few particulars respecting each of the lines. We will take them up in the order of their connection with Boston, the great railroad centre of New England.

1. The Old Colony Railroad, leading from Boston south-easterly to Plymouth, is 37½ miles in length. It has a double track for 11½ miles of this distance. The Dorchester and Milton Branch, which leaves the main line at Neponset, 5½ miles from Boston, is 3½ miles in length, and terminates at Milton Upper Mills. The South Shore Railroad, which leaves the main line at Braintree, 10½ miles from Boston, is 11 miles in length, and terminates at Cohasset. The Bridgewater Branch, which leaves the main line at South Abington, 21 miles from Boston, is 7½ miles in length. It terminates, as its name indicates, at Bridgewater.

At South Braintree, 11½ miles from Boston, the Fall River Railroad, an important branch line, diverges. It is 42½ miles in length, terminating at Fall River. By means of steamboats connecting with the trains on this railroad here, a continuous route for travel between Boston and New York, is maintained. At Middleboro', 35 miles from Boston, the Cape Cod Branch Railroad leaves the mail line, and proceeds to Sandwich, 62½ miles from Boston. It is 27 miles in length. Further extensions of some of these lines are contemplated.

II. The line next in order from Boston, is the Boston and Providence Railroad, which proceeds in Massachusetts nearly due south. Its whole length is 41 miles, or nearly, on 16 of which there is a double track. Its termination is at Providence, R. I., from which point, however, the line is continued to Stonington, Ct., and by means of steamboats hence to New York, a regular route for travel is maintained with that city. Steamboats sometimes run directly from Providence to New York. There is a branch on the easterly side from Canton to Stoughton, 4 miles long. At Mansfield, 24 miles from Boston, the Taunton Branch Railroad, 11 miles in length, diverges, which connects at Taunton, with the New Bedford and Taunton Railroad, 20 miles in length, thus forming a direct line to New Bedford from Boston, 55 miles in length. At "Myrick's Crossing" this line intersects the Fall River Railroad, already mentioned.

In Dedham, about nine miles from Boston, the Norfolk County Railroad diverges, 26 miles in length. It terminates at Blackstone, near the Rhode Island State line. It has a branch from Wrentham to Medway.

III. The next line in order, is that beginning with the Boston and Worcester Railroad, which afforded the first passenger travel of all the New England railroads. It proceeds westerly. Its length is 44½ miles, all of which has a double track. Three miles from Boston the Brookline Branch diverges on the South, leading to Brookline, from whence the Charles River Railroad to Newton Upper Falls, 11 miles from Boston, has just been completed. At Auburn Dale, 10 miles from Boston, there is a branch to Newton Lower Falls, 12½ miles from Boston. At Natick, 17½ miles from Boston, the Saxonville Branch, 4 miles in length, leaves the main line on the north side. At Framingham station, 21½ miles from Boston, there is a short branch on the north side, leading to the centre village in that town, and on the south side, the Milford Branch diverges, 12½ miles in length, to Milford. Near Worcester, there diverges on the south side the Milbury Branch, four miles in length.

At Worcester, the line is prolonged in the westerly direction by the Western Railroad, which with the Albany and West Stockbridge Railroad, under the same management, makes a direct line from Boston to Albany, 199 miles in length. At Worcester there also diverges south-easterly the Providence and Worcester Railroad, 43½ miles in length, with 5 miles of double track, to Providence, R. I.; and southerly the Norwich and Worcester Railroad, 69 miles in length, to Norwich, Conn. This road is prolonged seven miles further to Allyn's Point, near the mouth of the river Thames, in Long Island Sound, to make a continuous route of travel to New York, by means of steamboats thence to that city.

From Worcester, on the north side, there is the Fitchburg and Worcester Railroad, twenty-six miles in length to Fitchburg, and the Worcester and Nashua Railroad, fourteen miles of the track of which is used by the last named line, leading to Nashua, forty-five miles from Worcester, where it intersects with various other roads, which will be presently mentioned.

At Springfield, ninety-eight miles from Boston, the Western Railroad is intersected by the New Haven, Hartford, and Springfield Railroad, running southerly to these places, and by means of the New York and New Haven Railroad forming a continuous route of travel wholly by railroad between the cities of Boston and New York. The New London, Willimantic and Palmer Railroad diverges at Palmer, fifteen miles east of Springfield, in a south-easterly direction. From Springfield, also, the Connecticut River Railroad proceeds in the valley of that beautiful stream northerly, though the "new city" of Holyoke and the beautiful towns Northampton, Greenfield and others, connecting with the Connecticut valley line of railroads in Vermont and New Hampshire.

At Pittsfield, 151 miles from Boston, the Pittsfield and North Adams Railroad, twenty miles in length, diverges in a northerly direction to North Adams. At State Line, 162 miles from Boston, the Housatonic Railroad diverges in a southerly direction through the valley of the Housatonic River to Bridgeport, Conn. The distance from Pittsfield to Bridgeport, by this road, is 110 miles.

IV. The Fitchburg Railroad is the next in order from Boston. Its station was originally in Charlestown, but its tracks now begin in Boston. It is fifty-one miles in length, with a double track. The Harvard Branch for Old Cambridge diverges on the southerly side, about three miles from Boston. The Watertown Branch begins on the same side, about a mile beyond; distance to Watertown from Boston, 8 miles. This branch extends to Waltham, connecting with the main line again there. The Lexington and West Cambridge Railroad is a branch diverging northerly from the main line at the same point as the last; distance to Lexington from Boston, 11 miles; length of the road, 6½ miles. At South Acton, 25 miles from Boston, the Feltonville Branch to Feltonville, 9 miles in length, diverges on the south side.

At Groton junction, the Fitchburg Railroad crosses at right angles the Worcester and Nashua Railroad, already mentioned. From this point, also, diverge the Peterboro' and Shirley Railroad, 23 miles in length, to Mason Village, and the Stony Brook Railroad, 17 miles in length to Lowell.

At Fitchburg, the line is continued by the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad, 69 miles in length, to Brattleboro', in Vermont, with a branch to Greenfield, 56 miles from Fitchburg. At South Ashburnham, 11 miles from Fitchburg, the Cheeshire Railroad, 53½ miles in length, mostly in New Hampshire, diverges through Keene, N. H., to Bellows Fall, Vt. Connection is thus made with the railroads in the Valley of the Connecticut and in Vermont.

V. The Boston and Lowell Railroad extends from Boston to Lowell, 26 miles. It is built in the most substantial manner, with a double track. At Winchester, 8 miles from Boston, there is a branch two miles in length to Woburn. At Lowell the line is continued beyond the boundaries of Massachusetts by the Nashua and Lowell Railroad, 15 miles in length, with a double track, and connection is thus formed with the railroads in New Hampshire.

The Salem and Lowell Railroad, 17 miles in length, connects the second and third cities of the Commonwealth. The Lowell and Lawrence Railroad is 12 miles in length.

VI. The Boston and Maine Railroad is 74 miles in length, of which 28 miles is laid with a double track. It proceeds nearly due north from Boston to Dover, N. H., and thence to South Berwick, Me., whence the line is continued to Portland, 111 miles from Boston. By the Medford Branch of this road the distance from Boston to Medford is 5½ miles. The South Reading Branch is 8 miles in length, and affords a means of communication between Boston and Salem. The Essex Railroad, 20 miles in length, connects Salem and Lawrence. At Bradford, 32 miles from Boston, is the junction with the Newburyport Railroad, 16 miles in length, leading to Newburyport. The station of the Boston and Maine Railroad in Boston, is centrally situated in Haymarket square.

VII. The next and last line is that of the Eastern Railroad, 38 miles in length (in Massachusetts,) 16 of which is laid with a double track. The road begins at East Boston, the channel between which and the city proper has hitherto been crossed by means of ferry-boats, but this inconvenience will shortly be obviated. There is a branch from Salem to Marblehead, 4 miles. At Salem the road also connects with several others, which have already been mentioned. At Beverly there is a branch 5 miles in length, easterly to Gloucester, 30 miles from Boston. At Portsmouth, N. H., 54 miles from Boston, the line is continued by the Portland, Saco, and Portsmouth Railroad, through South Berwick junction to Portland, Me., 105 miles from Boston.

LOST BAGGAGE.

NOTICE TO RAILROAD PASSENGERS.

An Agency having been established for the purpose of restoring Lost Baggage to its owner, under the authority of the New England Association of Railway Superintendents, notice is hereby given, that all proper and bona fide applications will be received at the Office, entered upon file, published monthly, and all due efforts made to find personal property lost by Railroad conveyance.

It is desirable that application should be made as soon as possible by passengers who meet with losses of their personal effects, as the facilities for finding the same are greater, by so doing.

There is a large amount of property now lying unclaimed in the different Depots, and all those who have met with losses heretofore, will have an opportunity of recovering the same by applying to the Office, where a full record of unclaimed baggage is kept.

The Office is located, at present, in a part of the building known as "Sumner's Through Ticket Office," corner of Albany and Kneeland streets, Boston, where all communications should be addressed, (post paid) and applications made.

In the above list no slave State is mentioned—slaves being returned as property there—while in the free States this kind of property is not recognized in the estimates. The average amount of property to each person in the United States, excluding slaves, is $355; the average amount in the slave States being $455, and in the free States $317. Add the slaves to the free population of the Southern States, and there will be for each person $304, and deduct for each slave $300, and there remains only $236 to each person in those States.

PATENTS ISSUED IN 1851.

The valuable Report of the Commissioner of Patents exhibits a very large increase of business in the Patent office within the past few years; and the increase for 1851 is in full proportion to that of preceding years. From this Report we find the number of applicants for patents during the year ending Dec. 31, 1851, was 2,258; the number of caveats filed during the same period, was 760; showing an increase of 65 applications, and of 158 caveats over the previous year. The number of patents, reissues, designs and additional improvements issued during the year, was 869.

The receipts of the year 1851 amounted to $95,738, an increase over the receipts of 1850, of $8,811. The amount of expenditures of all kinds during the year 1851, was $86,916, leaving a balance of $8,822 to be credited to the patent fund of that year.

The following statement will show the number of patents issued to the citizens of each State, during the year 1851, and it will be seen that Massachusetts maintains an honorable position among her sister States, so far as relates to improvements and new inventions.

New England States,	221
Middle States,	330
Western States,	132
Southern States,	39
District of Columbia,	11
Foreign,	18
Total,	751

The number of patents taken out by the citizens of New England, according to the ratio of population, is much greater than the number taken out by any other section of the United States. And of the New England States, Massachusetts has the largest proportion. In comparing the development of her resources, the skill of her sons, and the energy which manifests itself in her several industrial departments, with other sections of the Union, she loses none of her well-earned laurels. With a million of people, she has done as much towards improving the means of industrial development, as have all the Western States, with a population of eight millions, and more than three times as much as the Southern States, with a population of seven millions.

The Report of the Commissioner of Patents also contains nearly one hundred and fifty pages relating to the World's Fair, held in London in the year 1851. Every branch of industry represented on that occasion, from whatever nation, is elaborately described in this report. The candor and fairness which run through it, commend it at once to the judgment and good sense of the reader.

In the quotation which follows, the genius of the institutions of Massachusetts will readily be perceived. To her industry and skill are most of the articles mentioned as the products of the United States, to be accredited. It is with the highest satisfaction that we copy these paragraphs.

"Perhaps the industrial products of no two countries which ever existed, presented so many points of strong contrast as did those of Russia and the United States, at the exhibition. In the one case, everything which was shown was costly; in the other, cheap. The compartments of Russia, splendidly fitted up and appointed, were attractive from the princely magnificence of the articles displayed. The compartments of the United States, on the contrary, decorated with great plainness, drew admiration from those who visited them, by the adaptability of everything they contained to the purposes for which they were intended.

"Thousands never ceased to gaze with wonder on jewels, embroidery, velvets, silks, and furs, contributed from the various imperial establishments of St. Petersburg and Moscow. There were others, however—and they, too, were counted by thousands before the exhibition closed—who found,—in the water-pails, made by machinery, and furnished at one quarter the usual price; in the pegged boots and shoes, between the upper leather and soles of which not a waxed end was drawn; in the improved household, barn, garden, and field implements; in the bell-telegraphs, spring chairs, cooking ranges, hot-air furnaces, and camp bedsteads,—a degree of intelligent interest excited by the display in no other part of the building.

"The Russian exhibition was a proof of the wealth, power, enterprise, and intelligence of Nicholas; that of the United States, an evidence of the ingenuity, industry, and capacity of a free and educated people. The one was the ukase of an emperor to the notabilities of Europe; the other, the epistle of a people to the workmen of the world.

"The history of our portion of the exhibition—of the lack of all pecuniary aid from the government, of its early discouragements, vicissitudes and trials, of its gradual emerging from darkness, of its stoutly-fought battles, its victories and successes, and of its hardly but fairly won honors at the close—is all too well known to the whole world to need recapitulation here. It is sufficient to say that we were not misunderstood. We might have sent far more of our productions to England; but that would only have confirmed, not altered, the verdict which the world has given us. We alone, of all people, exhibited the products of unfettered, untaxed, unpatronized labor. We showed the results of pure democracy upon the industry of men. We demonstrated the progressiveness of the human mind when in the enjoyment of liberty. And we alone, from among the assemblage of two-score nations, bore away the palm for intelligent labor."

NEW YORK CRYSTAL PALACE FOR THE EXHIBITION OF THE INDUSTRY OF ALL NATIONS.

NEW YORK CRYSTAL PALACE.

An enterprise requiring the skill and energy of a thoroughly organized body of practical men, and having for its objects the interests of industry, must commend itself to the liberal-minded of all classes. The conception, the gradual growth, and the successful completion of the New York Crystal Palace, will mark an important era in the history of American industry. All remember the popular achievements of our artisans and manufacturers at the World's Fair in London. The beneficial tendency of the exhibition upon the industry of the world, led to the early entertainment of the idea of repeating the exhibition on this side of the Atlantic.

Accordingly, men of eminent ability and great practical knowledge set in motion the necessary machinery to carry out the enterprise, in a manner that would redound most successfully to the credit of the industry and skill of the nation. Every step taken was marked by mature deliberation. The enterprise could not be, as it was in England, taken up and carried on by the government. It was necessary to rely wholly upon individual enterprise—the Herculean lever of the American people.

New York, the commercial metropolis of the Union, was naturally selected for the place of exhibition; and on the 3d day of January, 1852, the municipal authorities of that city, perceiving the immense benefits that must flow from such an enterprise, to the commerce and prosperity of the city, granted a lease of Reservoir Square, of five years, for the object.

The Legislature was then applied to, and that body, on the 11th of March, granted a Charter of Incorporation to the ASSOCIATION FOR THE EXHIBITION OF THE INDUSTRY OF ALL NATIONS.

The principal provisions were as follows:

The Association was incorporated with a capital of two hundred thousand dollars, leave being given to raise the same to three hundred thousand dollars.

They were authorized to occupy any real estate that might be granted them, and thereon to erect a building for the purpose of the Exhibition of the Industry of All Nations. They were further empowered to award prizes, and to do every thing necessary to carry out the general object.

Important movements were then made to secure the coöperation and countenance of the General Government. The matter was treated by the proper department with cordial liberality. The desire to obtain permission to admit the manufactures of other countries, intended for the exhibition, duty free, was complied with, and the building, when erected, will be made a bonded warehouse for that purpose.

The organization of the Foreign Department was attended with similar triumphant success.

The adoption of the plan of the building, and the contracts for its completion, the formation of committees, and the appointment of agents, were characterized by the same deliberate thought and energy of character, which had breathed into the stupendous enterprise a vigorous life.

The size and location of the building is here given:

Reservoir Square, on which it is erected, lies at the northern extremity of the city of New York, west of the Croton Distributing Reservoir, and between that mighty mass of stone and the Sixth Avenue. The precise distance from the Reservoir to the Sixth Avenue is 445 feet, and the width, north and south, from Fortieth to Forty-second street, is 455 feet. This piece of ground is nearly square, and probably no better spot could be found in the city. The Sixth Avenue Railroad runs directly past it; the Fourth Avenue Railroad runs near it; and it lies immediately in the vicinity of the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Avenues, the main thoroughfares of that part of the city.

The building contains on the ground floor 111,000 square feet of space, and in its galleries which are 54 feet wide, 62,000 square feet more, making a total area of 173,000 square feet for the purposes of exhibition. There are thus on the ground floor two acres and a half, or exactly 262-100; in the galleries one acre and 44-100; total, within an inconsiderable fraction, four acres. There are on the ground floor 190 octagonal cast-iron columns, 21 feet above the floor, and eight inches diameter, cast hollow, of different thicknesses, from half an inch to one inch.

With the exception of the floor, the building is to be constructed entirely of iron and glass. The quantity of iron to be used for the building will amount to about 1,250 tons. The roof will cover an area of 144,000 square feet. The glass for the building will amount to 39,000 square feet, in 9,027 panes, 16 by 34 or 38 inches.

The ground plan of the building forms an octagon, and is surmounted by a Greek cross, with a dome over the intersection. The extreme length and breadth of the building are each 365 feet. Height of Dome to top of Lantern, 148 feet. The dome is supported by 24 columns, which go up above the second story to a height of 62 feet above the floor, and support a combination of wrought-iron arches and girders, on which rests a cast-iron bed plate, so constructed as to receive the 32 ribs of the dome. The light is communicated to the dome through the lantern, as well as from the sides, on which 32 escutcheons, in colored glass, representing the arms of the Union and its several States, or the emblems of the different nations, form a part of the decoration.

There will be three similar entrances. Each entrance will be 47 feet wide, and that on the Sixth Avenue will be approached by a flight of eight steps; over each front is a large semi-circular fan-light 41 feet wide and 21 feet high, answering to the arch of the nave. Each arm of the cross is on the ground plan 149 feet broad. This is divided into a central nave and two aisles, one on each side; the nave 41 feet wide, each aisle 54 feet wide. The central portion or nave is carried up to the height of 67 feet, and the semi-circular arch by which it is spanned is 41 feet broad. There are thus in effect two arched naves crossing each other at right angles, 41 feet broad, 67 feet high to the crown of the arch, and 365 feet long; and on each side of these naves is an aisle 54 feet broad, and 45 feet high. The exterior of the roadway of the nave is 71 feet. Each aisle is covered by a gallery of its own width, and 24 feet from the floor. The central dome is 100 feet in diameter, 63 feet inside from the floor to the spring of the arch, and 118 feet to the crown; and on the outside, with the lantern, 149 feet. The exterior angles of the building are ingeniously filled up with a triangular lean-to 24 feet high, which gives the ground plan an octagonal shape, each side or face being 149 feet wide. At each angle is an octagonal tower eight feet in diameter, and 75 feet high.

Four large and eight winding staircases connect the principal floor with the gallery, which opens on the three balconies that are situated over the entrance-halls, and afford ample space for flower decorations, statues, vases, &c. The four principal staircases consist of two flights of steps with two landing places to each; the eight winding staircases are placed in the octagonal towers, which lead also to small balconies on the tops of the towers and to the roof of the building.

On entering this building, the observer's eye will be greeted by the vista of an arched nave, 41 feet wide, 67 feet high, and 365 feet long; while on approaching the centre, he will find himself under a dome 100 feet across, and 118 feet high.

It is certain, therefore, that the edifice will be larger, and more effective in its interior view, than any thing in the country.

The aspect of the building will be entirely different from that of the London Crystal Palace. Its form affords the requisite scope for a pleasing variety of architectural embellishment, by which all monotony can be avoided, and allows a very economical use of the ground. The rising dome, independent of its effect in the interior arrangement of the edifice, will give height and majesty.

The following are the objects which the architects have striven to combine in their plan :

1. The greatest possible interior area.
2. Perfect safety and elegance of construction.
3. A well calculated and pleasing admission of light.
4. A variety of coup d'œil in the interior.

Such is the building which will soon salute the eyes of the city of New York. In asserting that it will be the largest and most beautiful construction in the country, nothing has been said more than it deserves. But this is its least merit. The objects to which the building is destined form its real recommendation.

There is offered here to the European and domestic producer an unequalled opportunity of displaying the works of his skill, without any charge from the time that they enter the building till withdrawn. The Association have already made public the fact, that their object is Exhibition alone, and that they have no interest whatever, direct or indirect, in the final disposition to be made of articles displayed. They thus avoid coming in conflict with any branch of regular industry. There will be gathered here the choicest products of the luxury of the Old World, and the most cunning devices of the ingenuity of the New. The interests of Manufacture, Commerce, and the Arts, will all find encouragement and protection within these walls, and another guaranty will be given to the permanence of peace. Here will be collected multitudes of all nations ; but the great and crowning feature of the enterprise is, that it will offer amusement and recreation to the working classes, such as they can find no where else ; that it will be a PALACE FOR THE PEOPLE.

The Exhibition is announced to open on the 2d of May, 1853.

THEODORE SEDGWICK is the President, and WILLIAM WHETTEN is the Secretary and Treasurer of the Association. Communications should be addressed to the Secretary, No. 53 Broadway, New York. Information, respecting the exhibition of goods, will be given to all who wish to send their manufactures, on communicating with the Secretary.

In order to secure a full representation of the various departments of New England industry, in the great exhibition at New York, to facilitate communication, and to insure general confidence, a New England committee has been appointed, consisting of the following well known and distinguished gentlemen :—

New England Committee for the New York Crystal Palace.

SAMUEL LAWRENCE, Chairman; NATHAN HALE, JAMES W. PAIGE, MARSHALL P. WILDER, OTIS TUFTS, GEORGE S. HILLARD, J. T. STEVENSON, and EZRA LINCOLN, of Boston.

RUEL WILLIAMS, of Maine.

HENRY HUBBARD, of New Hampshire.

CHARLES PAINE, of Vermont.

EZRA LINCOLN, Secretary, Office, No. 4 Court street, Boston. Any information in regard to the Association, or its objects, and also the forms of application for space, and the General Prospectus of the Association, can be had by applying to the Secretary or to any member of the foregoing Committee.

Massachusetts will feel the importance of giving her hearty coöperation to the enterprise. She will there have an opportunity to exhibit her resources, such as has never been afforded. The success of the enterprise, thus far, has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of its friends. Supported by the government of their own country, the Directors have met with a cordial response from abroad. The trophies of American industry will be magnificently displayed, and the Old World will be fully represented at the exhibition.

The work, in every detail, has been one of considerable magnitude, and its successful completion and fulfilment of the designs of its projectors will add unfading honors to the skill, the energy, the prowess of American Industry.

THE CALORIC SHIP ERICSSON.

It is thought by many, that the application of the newly developed property of nature, known by the term "Caloric," to practical uses, will produce wonderful changes in the motive power now in general use. However this may be, it is foreign to the purpose of this article. We wish, merely, to place on record the fact that a new invention is claimed, and that its experiments have proved successful. New discoveries that look to important revolutions, are slow in gaining general favor. The history of the practical application of steam, is remarkable for the zeal and energy of its opponents.

The motive power of the new invention consists wholly in the expansion of common air by heat. In describing the movements of the new machine, one of the editors of the Boston Daily Advertiser, who was present at a trial trip of the "Ericsson," in New York harbor, holds the following language ;

"This expansion forces up the piston. The supply cylinder is necessary to introduce the air and to compress it into the receiver. The compression of the air is necessary in order that it may rush with a blast through the Regenerator into the working cylinder, and acquire heat in its passage. The power expended in compressing the air of the supply cylinder into the receiver, which, at first view, seems to be diverted from the main object of the engine, viz., the movement of the shaft, is thus consumed necessarily. The piston of the working cylinder, it is true, would go up once with greater force were there no other piston and cylinder above ; but it would never repeat its motion unless the air which it compressed by its rise were let in below it afterwards, and unless this air received heat by the action of the Regenerator. The Regenerator, in fact, is the great feature of the machine, and its remarkable property of converting hot air into cold, and cold air into hot, at the precise moments when the change becomes necessary, seems almost magical."

Captain Ericsson has labored assiduously for many years to give form and expression to his idea ; he has braved opposition and overcome difficulties ; and to his genius, industry, and perseverance, are we indebted for this new invention. The capacity of the ship to which this motive power is applied, is 1,903 tons ; length, 250 feet ; breadth of beam, 40 feet ; depth of hold, 26½ feet. Instead of one large smoke pipe, as in common steamers, she has four small ones, each 12 feet high, and 30 inches in diameter, two of which are smoke pipes, and two are for the conduction of fresh air into the machine.

Although this ship has performed several successful trips, yet there are found men, learned and scientific, who believe that the invention is an entire failure, as regards real utility. It seems, however, that such is the faith of its friends, that a firm in New York has volunteered to build a caloric engine of larger dimensions, which will increase the speed of the vessel. The rate of the present ship is about ten miles an hour. With a more powerful engine, it can be made to excel the fastest ocean steamer. Should the new engine prove what is anticipated, there can be no longer any doubt of the utility of its general application.

There are several decided advantages gained by the new machine. One is, its perfect safety. Economy is another. It is found that only six or seven tons of anthracite coal are needed daily to work the "Ericsson," while the Cunard and Collins steamships require from fifty to seventy tons of bituminous coal per diem. Two men can manage the one, while twenty are required for the others. The saving of room in the vessel, by such a reduction of employees and fuel, is obvious to every one. The editor before quoted, in alluding to the several advantages which the new invention has over the common steam engine, says, "that after some attention bestowed upon the matter, we are not able to think of a single feature in which the steam engine has an advantage. Captain Ericsson has contrived to combine all the good features of that engine with the new ones of his own invention. In the facilities for complete and rapid repairs in case of accident the caloric engine is very felicitously arranged."

OFFICIAL VOTES CAST AT THE PRESIDENTIAL AND GUBERNATORIAL ELECTIONS IN 1852, TOGETHER WITH THE NUMBER OF RATABLE POLLS, AND OF VOTERS IN EACH TOWN.

In the tables of votes for President, the vote given for each ticket is that received by the Elector having the highest number of votes on that ticket. Thus the vote under "Scott" is that of Robert C. Winthrop, of Boston; the one under "Pierce" is that of James S. Whitney, of Conway; the one under "Hale" is that of Stephen C. Phillips, of Salem; and the one under "Scattering" is that of Luther Griffing, of Richmond, these gentlemen having the highest votes on their respective tickets. There were a few other scattering votes.

The number of ratable polls is according to the valuation of 1851, and the number of votes is from a return made in that year by order of the Legislature.

The towns against which no votes are given are those the returns of which were rejected, and thus not counted in the official vote.

THE TUFTS COLLEGE.

The Universalists are engaged in the erection of a college in Medford, which will be opened probably in the fall of 1854. It is situated on Walnut Hill, and its lands lie partly in Somerville and partly in Medford. The site is very beautiful, and commands a fine view of the harbor, Boston, Charlestown, Roxbury, Brookline, Cambridge, Brighton, Newton, Lexington, Woburn, Winchester, Malden and Lynn. One hundred thousand dollars have been raised for this institution. It is under the control of a Board of Trustees, most of whom reside in the New England States. The principal college building will be 100 feet by 60, three stories high. This will be used for a chapel, library, lecture rooms, recitation rooms, &c., &c. Boarding houses will be built as the wants of the institution require, the rent of which will be merely nominal, in order to bring the price of board as low as in any of the colleges in New England. B. B. Mussey, Esq., of Boston, is Treasurer, and Rev. O. A. Skinner, Secretary. It is the intention of its patrons and friends to make the institution in all respects equal to the best New England colleges, and at the same time to furnish the agriculturalist, the manufacturer, the mechanic and the merchant with the education requisite to their pursuits. The system of instruction will be somewhat on the plan of Brown University.

A Common, embracing from four to six acres, has been laid out in front of the institution, which is to be handsomely fenced and planted with trees.

HAYWARD'S U. S. GAZETTEER.

This work embraces a concise general view of the United States. The well-known and widely extended reputation of the Publisher, JOHN HAYWARD, Esq., author of the New England Gazetteer, and other statistical works, is a sufficient guaranty of its reliability and merit. The work contains 860 octavo pages, printed on clear type and good paper, and bound in the most substantial manner. It also has a complete map of the United States, giving the present division of states and territories. The sketches of the various states, territories, cities and towns, mountains, lakes, rivers, railroads, canals, &c., will be found of great interest. The governments and institutions of the country; descriptions of the various places of fashionable resort and public interest; its valuable statistical tables; the United States census; Post Offices in the United States; facts concerning the army and navy; and a variety of valuable information gives to the work a claim to public confidence and patronage.

The arrangement of subjects is upon an entirely original and greatly improved plan. The several subjects treated upon are classified by themselves, instead of being confounded with different topics. Thus, towns and cities form a distinct chapter; mountains, rivers, &c., another, and so on. This arrangement greatly facilitates the labor of referring to any particular topic, and is a feature which will be appreciated by every reader.

It is published by Case, Tiffany & Co., Hartford, Conn., and is sold by subscription only.

ARTISTS' DAGUERREOTYPE ROOMS,

NO. 5½ TREMONT ROW, BOSTON.

SOUTHWORTH & HAWES.

This establishment offers to the admirers of perfect Daguerreotypes the highest inducements for patronage. From the earliest introduction of the Photographic Art to America, the exertions of the partners of this firm have been unequalled to perfect it in its application to every agreeable or useful purpose. We were the first in New England to apply it to likenesses from life; now more than twelve years since. One of the partners is a practical Artist, and as we never employ Operators, customers receive our personal attention. By constant industry and perseverance, we have so far distanced competition, that our services have commanded as much higher prices, as our ingenuity and taste have furnished better pictures. Since the use of Chlorine, and Bromine combined with Iodine, by Dr. Goddard, of Philadelphia, there has not been a process or an idea made known in this country or Europe, which would improve our productions. We have been the originators of every variety of style which is exhibited in our rooms, and practised the same, in many instances, for years before any one else. We are able to show work made six years since, which cannot be procured elsewhere at all, whatever may be the price offered for it.

Our plates are the largest, most highly polished, and have a more perfect surface; our pictures have a surpassing delicacy in their finish; there is no sameness in our positions and use of the light, it being adapted to the design of showing every face in its best view. As far as possible we imitate nature in her most beautiful forms, by a mellow blending of lights and shades, an artistic effect of drapery and figure, a pleasing air, forcible expression, and startling animation; representing thought, action, and feeling or soul.

PAINTING OR COLORING DAGUERREOTYPES.—All persons, without exception, pronounce our Coloring unequalled. Artists themselves say it is as true to nature as it can possibly be.

THE NATURAL COLORS.—We have many pictures which, in certain lights, reflect the colors of the prism partially blended, and many of different tints; but we assure our friends that the colors of nature were never, in a single instance, transferred by Daguerreotype, and that the pretended discoveries of taking the colors are an imposition upon the public, a trick unworthy of any one claiming the appellation of artist.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND PATRONS.—We are proud to acknowledge the compliments and patronage of the best artists, amateurs, and judges of Art in Boston and vicinity. We thank them for their many encouraging and useful suggestions. Our past conduct and experience we offer to them, to the public, and to all, as a pledge that we will excel. Our customers shall have the best of work. We will deserve and claim by right the name of our establishment, "The Artists' Daguerreotype Rooms." As no cheap work is done, we shall spend no time in bantering about prices, and wish to have all understand that ours is a one-price concern. Whenever our friends introduce individuals on whom the public have a claim, on account of station or talent, and wish for their likenesses for the public, we will do our duty and bear our share in the expense.

We again respectfully invite all to examine our work at our exhibition room.

THE STEREOSCOPE.

This is a name very properly affixed to a new invention or discovery by which pictures, upon plain surfaces, have all the appearance of solidity and weight, and the perspective of the objects themselves. The word is a compound term from the Greek, which literally means "to see solids," and thus becomes suggestive of its peculiar property and design. Let the word Stereoscope be considered as legitimately and inseparably adopted into the English language.

By this simple apparatus, two shadows become, to appearance, so real and so beautiful as to startle with surprise, and charm the beholder beyond all previous conception. A description of the Stereoscope has been repeatedly given in the public prints, still few know what it is. An opportunity is now offered to inspect and examine, and thoroughly understand its optical principles, a far more satisfactory and perfect manner than from description alone.

About eight months since, Messrs. Southworth & Hawes, in their first application of Professor Wheaton's Stereoscope to Daguerreotypes, were sensible of imperfections which it was necessary to remedy before its application to the fine arts could please the artistic eye, though its effects might truly excite surprise and wonder. These imperfections had been observed by Sir David Brewster and others, and attributed to a wrong cause. Nor is it strange that in a discovery so recent, a few (for it was not known to many) should have overlooked an important principle, or mistaken the path for a time, whilst seeking for truth. Messrs. Southworth & Hawes were so fortunate as to arrive in their experiments to a result which developed the cause of all the difficulty, and pointed at once to a perfect and philosophical remedy, and enabled them to produce the first perfect Stereoscopic pictures ever made. But there was still a difficulty. The pictures shown were very diminutive in size, and there was great inconvenience in varying or changing the views.

Messrs. Southworth & Hawes undertook, in earnest, to invent an apparatus which should be susceptible of an indefinite increase in the size of the pictures, and in the number to be contained in the instrument; and vary or change the views readily at the option of the beholder. After six months' constant labor, without allowing themselves a day's recreation, they most successfully accomplished their purpose. The work is complete, and far more perfect than their most sanguine hopes anticipated.

They have affixed the name of "The Parlor or Gallery Stereoscope" to their new apparatus. It may be made as ornamental as a piano-forte, (perhaps more so,) and in its general form somewhat resembles it. It may contain any number of different Daguerreotypes perfectly arranged—requiring only the turning of a wheel to change places, which can easily be done by a child. The whole thing is compact and elegant, being a complete Picture Gallery in itself. The light of any window is sufficient, and a good lamp or gas light serves equally well. Its simplicity renders it not likely to get out of repair. This apparatus is surely destined to become the ornament of the Parlor, of the Picture Gallery, and Exhibition Room. The public can at once appreciate, on examination, both its use and its value. It is applicable to everything that can be daguerreotyped. The Single Likeness—the Family Group—the Daguerreotype of the Street—or Landscape—or Dwelling—Interior Views—Copies of Statuary—Models—Machinery—Shipping,—indeed, almost everything that can be thought of for a picture.

The Parlor and Gallery Stereoscope (the only one yet made) is now on exhibition at the "ARTISTS' DAGUERREOTYPE ROOMS," 54 Tremont Row, opposite Brattle street. A spacious Room has been purposely fitted up, making in addition to the usual exhibition, the largest and finest display of Daguerreotypes ever shown. Visitors will be sure of a rich treat.

A large list of names, interesting to the public, might be mentioned, whose likenesses are on exhibition; but as it is not so much our design to exhibit faces as specimens of all the various pictures of which the art is capable, we think it unnecessary to advertise every "official" or distinguished character who visits us.

Messrs. Southworth & Hawes would gratefully acknowledge the many favors of their friends and of the artists and lovers of art in Boston and vicinity. It is with great satisfaction and perfect confidence, that we are again able to invite them to an examination of the last most wonderful and most beautiful improvement in Daguerreotypes; the transformation of shadows into substance—the change of pictures upon a plain surface into statuary and solidity.

The Proprietors of these Rooms also take great pleasure in offering, for exhibition, an apparatus so elegant in its form and proportions, so compact and durable in its machinery, and so appropriate for the Family Parlor or Picture Gallery. It is new in every respect—newly invented machinery by ourselves—our own design in form, and our own new application to an entirely new discovery, and we know that it will give to all lovers of mechanical ingenuity—to all lovers of beauty and art—new and exquisite pleasure to examine it. Measures have been taken to secure a patent.

MATTHEWSON'S

PATENT WEATHER STRIP

Is decidedly the cheapest and best article for rendering Doors and French Windows tight at the bottom. It is an article that can be put on inside Doors as well as out, and so far from disfiguring the Door, it serves as an ornament. The following advantages are derived from its use:—It keeps the floor and the sill from decay, and carpet from fading; excludes dust, rain, and snow, and prevents the circulation of cold air from the bottom of the door.

The public are cautioned against purchasing Strips, except at our office, No. 14 Charlestown, corner of Stillman Street, or of our lawful agents, who will have a printed card of Agency, and a copy of the same will be on the Strips, with our signature at the bottom. ☞ All orders promptly attended to.

HEWS' PATENT AMERICAN ACTION PIANO. AT THE GREAT LONDON FAIR.

N. B. Pianos Exchanged, Tuned, and Rented on favorable terms.

GEORGE HEWS,
No. 365 Washington St., Melodeon Building, Boston.

Boston, August 14, 1852.

The undersigned, who were officially associated with the Great Exhibition in London, are happy to bear testimony to the commendation bestowed on the instrument manufactured by our townsman, Mr. George Hewes, by gentlemen capable both of appreciating the tone of a Piano, as well as its external finish and elegance of workmanship. The unrivalled pianist, THALBERG, who was on the musical jury, pronounced it one of the sweetest as well as most perfect toned instruments in the exhibition.

EDWARD RIDDLE, U. S. Comm'r to London Exhibition of 1851.
J. V. C. SMITH, M. D.

OPINIONS OF MEMBERS OF THE GERMANIA MUSICAL SOCIETY.—We, members of the Germania Musical Society, having used, during the past winter, Mr. Hewes' "Patent American Action Piano Fortes," take pleasure in expressing our appreciation of their excellent qualities, and regard them as very superior instruments.

SOLE AGENTS FOR

BOARDMAN & GRAY'S

CELEBRATED

PIANO FORTES.

These Piano Fortes, for elegance of finish, quality of touch, and fineness of tone, are not surpassed by any manufactured in the country. The Dolce Campana attachment is a new invention, for which Messrs. Boardman & Gray have secured letters patent, both in the United States and England. This improvement combines more richness and beauty of tone than was ever before attained in the Piano Forte. It is controlled by a pedal, and produces peculiar qualities and expressions of tone, unlike anything heretofore known, and when combined with the two other pedals produces all the shades of expression which may be desired. The particular qualities of the attachment are its clearness, brilliancy, and delicacy of tone, which falls upon the ear with a surpassing softness, like the chiming of distant bells;—hence its name, "Dolce Campana," (Sweet Bells.) Purchasers are respectfully invited to call and examine. Experienced performers always in attendance to exhibit the capability of the instruments.

A prime assortment of STOVES constantly on hand.

IMPROVEMENTS IN HEATING-APPARATUS.

Any middle-aged man can remember the introduction of Anthracite Coal, and the cost of fuel before it, and he may easily calculate what would have been the cost of wood sufficient to create the same degree of heat all over his house, which he now considers a necessary comfort of life. With Anthracite Coal came various contrivances and experiments for the best mode of using it; and the result is, that from open Fire Places, the gas escapes into the room, affects the lips, the skin and the lungs, and is unpleasant and unhealthful. Then to remedy the bad effects of the gas in the rooms, and to economize in fuel, Stoves were invented of various plans and forms for burning it, which at the present day form no small branch of the industry of our State.

Some idea may be formed of the steady increase in the manufacture and sale of Stoves from the fact that from one house alone in Boston, that of Messrs. CHILSON, RICHARDSON & Co., (formerly GARDNER CHILSON,) nearly 10,000 Stoves are sold annually; while in 1837, the number of Stoves sold by Mr. Chilson did not exceed 1,000. Notwithstanding the great economy in fuel by the use of stoves over open fire places, yet it was found necessary for comfort and health to have a stove placed in each room and passage, else in passing from a warm to a cold room health was endangered. But the trouble and expense of a stove and fire for each room are attended with many serious objections, and to remove these objections Furnaces were invented to warm with one fire the whole house. This mode of warming by Furnaces has met with great favor, especially those of the most approved construction.

In 1838 the number of Furnaces sold by Mr. Chilson did not exceed 30, but as with Stoves, so there has also been a steadily increasing demand for Furnaces. The number of Furnaces manufactured and sold by Messrs. Chilson, Richardson & Co., the past year, amounts to over 1,000. Although it is but a few years since the introduction of Furnaces, yet an entire change in the principle, construction and character of the heat generated by them, has been successfully accomplished by Mr. Chilson, from that of the common cast iron cylinder pot furnace, to those constructed on the most scientific principle for securing the greatest amount of heat from the fuel consumed; producing a fresh, healthful, warm atmosphere throughout the buildings; and insuring great durability without liability of repairs. Another important object has been secured in the construction of this kind of furnace, and plan of setting it, which is that of preventing the possibility of firing the buildings in which they are placed.

Mr. Chilson has undoubtedly given more attention to the important subject of the invention of warming and ventilating apparatus, than any other individual in the country. His inventions are based on strictly scientific principles, which govern the elements of air and heat in harmony with the laws of nature.

A great error has pervaded the form of the apparatus for burning Anthracite Coal in stoves and furnaces hitherto used, and the latter in particular, in which the fire pot containing the fuel was a long iron cylinder, and set permanently in its brick walls. The necessary consequences were, that the coal was confined in a deep, compact bed, presenting the least possible surface for radiation, and in the worst possible position for combustion; so that a given quantity of fuel gave out the least possible heat, and made the most possible waste in clinkers, &c. Then the red hot coals came in contact with the iron pot, and made that red hot also; and as the coals were the hottest in the centre, so was the iron pot, and being unequally heated, it necessarily was unequally expanded, and more at the centre than above or below it. This unequal expansion of parts necessarily cracked the pot, and through the cracks the poisonous gas escaped into the air-chamber, and thence passed into the house, thus destroying health and comfort.

And all this was the consequence of the action of the unscientific fire-pot. Its own action necessarily destroyed itself, and at the same time cracked and warped the plates and joints of the furnace about the fire-pot; and the only remedy was to remove the brick work, take out the cracked pots and plates, and put in new ones, and rebuild the brick work. The consequence was a public belief that Furnaces poisoned the air of a house, and consumed themselves, and thus cost health and money. The general reputation of furnaces for a long time was based upon such conclusions.

But a new era came with CHILSON'S FURNACE. Mr. Chilson made a new fire-pot on an entirely new principle, conforming to, instead of opposing, the natural laws. The old fire-pot was deep, he made his shallow; the old was narrowest at the top, the new is the broadest; the old fire-pot was a cylinder much taller than it was broad, the new one has an open flaring basin, much broader than it is tall; the old fire-pot held its heated coals against the sides of the iron pot, the new is lined with soapstone, which prevents the hot coals from touching the iron of the fire-pot. The natural result of Mr. Chilson's invention is, that his fire-pot presents the broadest possible radiating surface, and holds the coals in a shallow bed, through every part of which the air passes freely, and furnishes the most perfect combustion. The logical deduction derived from this is, that from a given quantity of coal the most possible heat combined with the least possible waste is obtained.

Then, as the fire pot never expands unequally or materially, it never cracks, and there being no escape of gas into the air-chamber or the house, the fire-pot will last a life-time. The arrangement of this Furnace in its parts above the fire-pot, is also such as to prevent the intense action of the heat from warping or cracking any part of it, and there is therefore no burnt iron heat coming from the furnace or fire-pot, and no escape of coal gas into the air-chamber. All the evils of old furnaces are thus removed. The new furnaces are made healthful and economical, one fire only being necessary to fill many rooms and large buildings with a salubrious atmosphere.

This Furnace has received the first premium of all the principal Fairs in America, among which one Gold Medal, three Silver Medals, besides numerous Diplomas, are on record.

At the World's Fair it gained the PRIZE MEDAL, and plans of its construction were engraved and printed in the Illustrated Catalogue of the Fair, and its Secretary testifies, under his own signature, that "this compliment was paid to no other article in the American exhibition unsolicited." So favorable has been the impression produced by this Furnace, that its proprietors contemplate sending a special agent across the Atlantic to superintend the important and growing branch of their business in that country. Its use in England was begun by the EARL OF CARNARVON, in his lordly castle, and it will carry increased comfort into the homes of the English people.

This firm having been very successful in warming and ventilating buildings, have been induced to open a branch house at No. 374 Broadway, New York, where they are meeting with equal success in the introduction of their Furnace and ventilating apparatus. They have also established agencies for the manufacture, as well as sale of Chilson's Furnace and ventilating apparatus, in all the largest western cities, a good evidence that these improvements are extending all over the country.

N.B. ORNAMENTS MADE TO ANY DESIGN AT SHORT NOTICE.

⚭ Papier Mache has been known and used for many years, although its exclusive application in the arts is of very recent date. The credit of the original invention is given by the English to the French, while the French insist upon giving it to the English. It was employed by the French and the Germans as early as 1740, in the manufacture of Snuff boxes, and subsequently of trays, and similar articles, and it gradually rose in importance with the French and Austrian Artisans towards the close of the last century. It is only, however, within a few years, that it has been extensively used in numerous ornaments and articles of domestic utility, and more especially in architectural decorations. This material has, for many purposes, a decided superiority over wood or plaster. All the effects of the finest wood can be produced in papier mache at less than one-half the cost. It is of about the same specific gravity as the harder woods, and it is superior to them in strength and toughness, when wrought to a like degree of delicacy. It weighs only about one quarter as much as plaster, and is incomparably more durable. It has already, in the city of Boston, been put as carved work upon rosewood and black walnut Furniture, and so nice has been the imitation, without painting, as to defy any but the closest examination of the most practised eye. It is the best material known for picture frames, mouldings, cornices, brackets, alto relievos, bas-reliefs, busts, figures, chimney pieces, articles of furniture, painted ceilings and ceiling centre-pieces, and other ceiling ornaments.

It is made in imitation of various kinds of wood, without paint, and colored throughout by a process discovered by Messrs. Bowler & Tileston, so that a fracture will not deface it. It is water proof and sound proof, — nothing can be heard through any more than through a brick wall. It will not crack in any heat of climate or of furnace, nor warp nor give in any way. It can be cut, filed, sawed, planed, and screwed, and is a non-conductor of heat. It has been for some time used in England, and on the continent of Europe, for outside as well as inside decorations for houses, churches, and other public edifices, and has been found to resist the elements better than wood. It can be seen in the inside and upon the outside of many houses, &c., in the city of Boston and its vicinity, and it may with confidence be stated that it has given the most perfect satisfaction in every instance in which it has been applied.

LOWELL ISLAND HOUSE.

GEO. W. GILMAN, SUPERINTENDENT.

LOWELL ISLAND, situated in Massachusetts Bay, midway between Cape Ann and Boston, and in the vicinity of Salem, Beverly, Marblehead and Nahant, has long been a favorite resort for fishing parties, and more recently a rendezvous for regattas. It commands a view of both shores of the bay, and all steamers and sailing vessels proceeding to and from Boston and neighboring ports pass in sight at a short distance. Picturesque in its formation, and marked by striking geological characteristics, its peaks and cliffs, its rocky ledges and pebbly beaches, its verdant surface and springs of water combine with its other advantages to make it a peculiarly attractive residence upon the ocean during the summer.

A steamboat plies between the island and Phillips Wharf in Salem, (3½ miles distant,) and connects with railroad trains proceeding to Lowell, Lawrence, Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H., and intermediate and more remote stations. The experience of the first season has proved that there is no other place upon the sea coast to which the railroad travel from the interior can be conducted with so much convenience and so little expense.

The Hotel contains an unusual number of public and private parlors, one hundred and fifty well ventilated sleeping rooms, and a dining hall which will seat more than three hundred persons.

Boats for sailing, Bowling Alleys, Bathing Houses, and other means of recreation usual at fashionable summer resorts.

BLACK WRITING INK,

FOR METALLIC OR QUILL PENS.

The manufacture of this Ink was established in 1816, and the quality has now been tested by the public for THIRTY-FIVE YEARS. During this time it has been constantly increasing in public favor and patronage, and is now the leading article in the country. Those who may be ignorant of its superiority and reputation, are invited to read the following testimonials, and to make trial of it themselves. When the best judges, after using it twenty and more years, express themselves in one manner concerning its superior excellence, it is quite evident that no one need be troubled with bad Ink.

Bank of State of North Carolina, Raleigh, March 4, 1847.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: Gentlemen,—Your Writing Ink has been in almost constant use by the officers of this banking house for the last fifteen years, and has always been preferred to any other brand. It flows freely from the pen, and does not mould; and the color, though sometimes pale when first opened, becomes a beautiful permanent black. I have been a regular consumer of it myself during this time, excepting when curiosity has led me to make trial of other kinds, and take pleasure in being able to speak so favorably of it, and trust that my opinion, founded on such long experience, will induce many who may not be so well acquainted with its merits to give it a trial.

Yours, respectfully, C. DEWEY, Cashier.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: Gentlemen,—We are happy in being able to say, that we entirely concur in the opinion expressed above of your Writing Ink, by Mr. Dewey, the Cashier of this Institution.

Respectfully yours,
DUNN CAMERON, Pres.
S. W. WHITING, Teller,
D. DUPRE, Bookkeeper.

Boston, January 10, 1848.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: Gentlemen,—It is now, I believe, more than twenty years since the School Committee passed an order for using your Black Writing Ink in the City Schools. I have used it during that period, and deem it a first rate article, and cheerfully recommended it to others. It flows freely from the pen, and increases in blackness after being committed to paper, and the color is durable. I know of no Ink equal to yours, and I have have tried many kinds, both English and American.

P. MACKINTOSH, JR.
Principal of Writing Dep. Hancock School.

Office of Merchants' Ins. Co., Boston, Nov. 18, 1847.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: Gentlemen,—I have used your Writing Ink for the last sixteen years. In 1840, I gave you a certificate of its excellence, and having continued its use ever since to my entire satisfaction, my opinion is confirmed in its superiority. It flows freely from the pen, and is, in all respects, the best Ink I have ever used.

GEORGE HOMER, Secretary.

Registry of Deeds, Boston, Nov. 20, 1847.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: I have made use of your Writing Ink for the Recording of Deeds, &c., the past twenty-five years, and having found it to suit my wishes and purposes entirely, take pleasure in renewing my testimonial of its superiority. From the appearance of the records in my office, I am satisfied it is superior to any I have used, and consider it particularly adapted for all purposes where permanency of color is requisite or desirable. It flows well from the pen, and does not mould; and my oldest records prove its color to be unalterably black.

HENRY ALLINE, Register of Deeds.

Boston Post Office, Dec. 4, 1851.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: Gentlemen,—In 1843 I certified to the superior quality of your Writing Ink. I have continued to use it ever since that time, and take pleasure in expressing as I then did my entire satisfaction with it. It has now been used in this office more than twenty years. Other Inks have during that time been tested, but yours has been in every instance preferred. For fluidity, blackness, and permanency, none has been found equal to it.

GEORGE WM. GORDON, Postmaster.

Bowdoin School, Boston, Dec. 10, 1851.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: I have used your Ink in the Writing Department of this School during the last twenty-four years, and feel pleased in being able to express the same favorable opinion of it that I did ten years ago. It flows freely from the pen, its color is brilliant and permanent, and it combines all the necessary and desirable qualities of good ink. It has given me such entire satisfaction for so many years, that I can strongly recommend it to all of my profession, who so much need a first rate article of writing liquid.

JAS. ROBINSON, Writing Master.

Boston, Dec. 2, 1851.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: I am pleased in being able to say that longer experience in the use of your Ink, and the occasional trial of other kinds, has confirmed the good opinion I some years since expressed concerning it. I have used it in my weekly preparations for the pulpit twenty-one years, and have found it suit my wishes entirely. Its peculiar excellence is that it becomes black by age, at the same time it flows easily from the pen, and is sufficiently dark to make what is written easily to be read immediately after it has been committed to paper.

Yours respectfully,

G. W. BLADEN, Pastor Old South Ch.
